The global ongoing crisis caused by the outbreak of COVID-19 is causing materially reduced consumer demand and economic output, disrupting supply chains, resulting in market closures, travel restrictions and quarantines, and adversely impacting local and global economies. Investors should be aware that in light of the current uncertainty, volatility and distress in economies, financial markets, and labor and health conditions all over the world, the Funds’ investments and a shareholder’s investment in a Fund are subject to sudden and substantial losses, increased volatility and other adverse events. Firms through which investors invest with the Funds, the Funds, their service providers, the markets in which they invest and market intermediaries are also impacted by quarantines and similar measures intended to contain the ongoing pandemic, which can obstruct their functioning and subject them to heightened operational risks.

The Series StylePlus Funds may not be suitable for all investors. Investments in large capitalization stocks may underperform other segments of the equity market or the equity market as a whole. • Investments in small-sized company securities may present additional risks such as less predictable earnings, higher volatility and less liquidity than larger, more established companies. • Growth stocks may be more volatile than other stocks because they are more sensitive to investor perceptions regarding the growth potential of the issuing companies. • The Funds may invest in derivative instruments, which may be more volatile and less liquid, increasing the risk of loss when compared to traditional securities. Certain of the derivative instruments are also subject to the risks of counterparty default and adverse tax treatment. • The Funds' use of leverage, through borrowings or instruments such as derivatives, may cause the Funds to be more volatile than if they had not been leveraged. • The Funds' investments in other investment vehicles subject the Funds to those risks and expenses affecting the investment vehicle. • The Funds may invest in foreign securities which carry additional risks when compared to U.S. securities, due to the impact of diplomatic, political or economic developments in the country in question (investments in emerging markets securities are generally subject to an even greater level of risks). • The Funds may invest in fixed income securities whose market value will change in response to interest rate changes and market conditions among other factors. In general, bond prices rise when interest rates fall and vice versa. • The Funds' exposure to high yield securities may subject the Funds to greater volatility. • The Funds may invest in bank loans and asset-backed securities, including mortgage backed, which involve special types of risks. • The Funds may invest in restricted securities which may involve financial and liquidity risk. • You may have a gain or loss when you sell your shares. • It is important to note that the Funds are not guaranteed by the U.S. government. • Please read the prospectus for more detailed information regarding these and other risks.

The Series Value Funds may not be suitable for all investors. • An investment in the Funds will fluctuate and is subject to investment risks, which means investors could lose money. The intrinsic value of the underlying stocks may never be realized or the stocks may decline in value. Investments in small- and/or mid-sized company securities may present additional risks such as less predictable earnings, higher volatility and less liquidity than larger, more established companies. • Please read the prospectus for more detailed information regarding these and other risks.

The Series D (World Equity Income Series) may not be suitable for all investors. • Investments in securities in general are subject to market risks that may cause their prices to fluctuate over time. • The Fund's investments in foreign securities carry additional risks when compared to U.S. securities, due to the impact of diplomatic, political or economic developments in the country in question (investments in emerging markets are generally subject to an even greater level of risks). Additionally, the Fund's exposure to foreign currencies subjects the Fund to the risk that those currencies will decline in value relative to the U.S. Dollar. • The Fund's investments in derivatives may pose risks in addition to those associated with investing directly in securities or other investments, including illiquidity of the derivatives, imperfect correlations with underlying investments or the Fund's other portfolio holdings, lack of availability and counterparty risk. • The Fund's use of leverage, through instruments such as derivatives, may cause the Fund to be more volatile than if it had not been leveraged. • The Fund's investments in other investment vehicles subject the Fund to those risks and expenses affecting the investment vehicle. • The Fund may have significant exposure to securities in a particular capitalization range e.g., large-, mid- or small-cap securities. As a result, the Fund may be subject to the risk that the pre-denominate capitalization range may underperform other segments of the equity market or the equity market as a whole. • Please read the prospectus for more detailed information regarding these and other risks.

The Series E (Total Return Bond Series) may not be suitable for all investors. • The Fund's market value will change in response to interest rate changes and market conditions among other factors. In general, bond prices rise when interest rates fall and vice versa. • The Fund's exposure to high yield securities may subject the Fund to greater volatility. • When market conditions are deemed appropriate, the Fund will leverage to the full extent permitted by its investment policies and restrictions and applicable law. Leveraging will exaggerate the effect on net asset value of any increase or decrease in the market value of the Fund's portfolio. • The Fund may invest in derivative instruments, which may be more volatile and less liquid, increasing the risk of loss when compared to traditional securities. Certain of the derivative instruments are also subject to the risks of counterparty default and adverse tax treatment. • Instruments and strategies (such as borrowing transactions and reverse repurchase agreements) may provide leveraged exposure to a particular investment, which will magnify any gains or losses on those investments. • Investments in reverse repurchase agreements expose the Fund to many of the same risks as investments in derivatives. • The Fund's investments in other investment vehicles subject the Fund to those risks and expenses affecting the investment vehicle. • The Fund's investments in foreign securities carry additional risks when compared to U.S. securities, due to the impact of diplomatic, political, or economic developments in the country in question (investments in emerging markets securities are generally subject to an even greater level of risk). • Investments in syndicated bank loans generally offer a floating interest rate and involve special types of risks. • The Fund's investments in municipal securities can be affected by events that affect the municipal bond market. • The Fund's investments in real estate securities subject the Fund to the same risks as direct investments in real estate, which is particularly sensitive to economic downturns. • The Fund's investments in restricted securities may involve financial and liquidity risk. • You may have a gain or loss when you sell your shares. • It is important to note that the Fund is not guaranteed by the U.S. government. • Please read the prospectus for more detailed information regarding these and other risks.

The Series F (Floating Rate Strategies Series) may not be suitable for all investors. • Investments in floating rate senior secured syndicated bank loans and other floating rate securities involve special types of risks, including credit rate risk, interest rate risk, liquidity risk and prepayment risk. • The Fund's market value will change in response to interest rate changes and market conditions among other factors. In general, bond prices rise when interest rates fall and vice versa. • The Fund's exposure to high yield securities may subject the Fund to greater volatility. • When market conditions are deemed appropriate, the Fund may use leverage to the full extent permitted by its investment policies and restrictions and applicable law. Leveraging will exaggerate the effect on net asset value of any increase or decrease in the market value of the Fund's portfolio. • The Fund may invest in derivative instruments, which may be more volatile and less liquid, increasing the risk of loss when compared to traditional securities. Certain of the derivative instruments are also subject to the risks of counterparty default and adverse tax treatment. • Instruments and strategies (such as borrowing transactions and reverse repurchase agreements) may provide leveraged exposure to a particular investment, which will magnify any gains or losses on those investments. • Investments in reverse repurchase agreements and synthetic instruments (such as synthetic collateralized debt obligations) expose the Fund to many of the same risks as investments in derivatives. • The Fund's investments in other investment vehicles subject the Fund to those risks and expenses affecting the investment vehicle. • The Fund's investments in foreign securities carry additional risks when compared to U.S. securities, due to the impact of diplomatic, political or economic developments in the country in question (investments in emerging markets securities are generally subject to an even greater level of risk). • The Fund's investments in real estate securities subject the Fund to the same risks as direct investments in real estate, which is particularly sensitive to economic downturns. • The Fund's investments in restricted securities may involve financial and liquidity risk. • The Fund is subject to active trading risks that may increase volatility and impact its ability to achieve its investment objective. • You may have a gain or loss when you sell your shares. • It is important to note that the Fund is not guaranteed by the U.S. government. • Please read the prospectus for more detailed information regarding these and other risks.

The Series N (Managed Asset Allocation Series) may not be suitable for all investors. • The value of an investment in the Fund will fluctuate and is subject to investment risks, which means investors could lose money. The Fund could lose money if the issuer of a bond or a counterparty to a derivatives transaction or other transaction is unable to repay interest and principal on time or defaults. The issuer of a bond could also suffer a decrease in quality rating, which would affect the volatility and liquidity of the bond. Derivatives may pose risks in addition to those associated with investing directly in securities or other investments, including the risk that the Fund will be unable to sell, unwind or value the derivative because of an illiquid market, the risk that the derivative is not well correlated with underlying investments or the Fund's other portfolio holdings, and the risk that the counterparty is unwilling or unable to meet its obligation. The use of derivatives by the Fund to hedge risk may reduce the opportunity for gain by offsetting the positive effect of favorable price movements. Furthermore, if the Investment Manager is incorrect about its expectations of market conditions, the use of derivatives could result in a loss, which in some cases may be unlimited. Foreign securities carry additional risks when compared to U.S. securities, including currency fluctuations, adverse political and economic developments, unreliable or untimely information, less liquidity, limited legal recourse and higher transactional costs. The Investment Manager may not be able to cause certain of the underlying funds' performance to match or correlate to that of the underlying funds' respective underlying index or benchmark, either on a daily or aggregate basis. Factors such as underlying fund expenses, imperfect correlation between an underlying fund's investments and those of its underlying index or underlying benchmark, rounding of share prices, changes to the composition of the underlying index or underlying benchmark, regulatory policies, high portfolio turnover rate, and the use of leverage all contribute to tracking error. Tracking error may cause an underlying fund's and, thus the Fund's, performance to be less than you expect. • Please read the prospectus for more detailed information regarding these and other risks.

The Series P (High Yield Series) may not be suitable for all investors. • The Fund's market value will change in response to interest rate changes and market conditions among other factors. In general, bond prices rise when interest rates fall and vice versa. • The Fund's exposure to high yield securities may subject the Fund to greater volatility. • The Fund may invest in derivative instruments, which may be more volatile and less liquid, increasing the risk of loss when compared to traditional securities. Certain of the derivative instruments are also subject to the risks of counterparty default and adverse tax treatment. • The Fund's use of leverage, through borrowings or instruments such as derivatives, may cause the Fund to be more volatile than if it had not been leveraged. • Instruments and strategies (such as borrowing transactions and reverse repurchase agreements) may provide leveraged exposure to a particular investment, which will magnify any gains or losses on those investments. • The Fund may invest in foreign securities which carry additional risks when compared to U.S. securities, due to the impact of diplomatic, political or economic developments in the country in question (investments in emerging markets securities are generally subject to an even greater level of risks). • Investments in syndicated bank loans generally offer a floating interest rate and involve special types of risks. • The Fund's investments in other investment vehicles subject the Fund to those risks and expenses affecting the investment vehicle. • The Fund's investments in restricted securities may involve financial and liquidity risk. • You may have a gain or loss when you sell your shares. • It is important to note that the Fund is not guaranteed by the U.S. government. • Please read the prospectus for more detailed information regarding these and other risks.

The Series Z (Alpha Opportunity Series) may not be suitable for all investors. • Investments in securities and derivatives, in general, are subject to market risks that may cause their prices to fluctuate over time. An investment in the Fund may lose money. There can be no guarantee the Fund will achieve its investment objective. • The Fund's use of derivatives such as futures, options and swap agreements may expose the Fund to additional risks that it would not be subject to if it invested directly in the securities underlying those derivatives. • Certain of the derivative instruments, such as swaps and structured notes, are also subject to the risks of counterparty default and adverse tax treatment. • The more the Fund invests in leveraged instruments, the more the leverage will magnify any gains or losses on those investments. • The Fund's use of short selling involves increased risk and costs, including paying more for a security than it received from its sale and the risk of unlimited losses. • In certain circumstances the Fund may be subject to liquidity risk and it may be difficult for the Fund to purchase and sell particular investments within a reasonable time at a fair price. • In certain circumstances, it may be difficult for the Fund to purchase and sell particular investments within a reasonable time at a fair price. • The Fund's fixed income investments will change in value in response to interest rate changes and other factors. • Please read the prospectus for more detailed information regarding these and other risks.

In what could have been one of the worst years on record for equity investors due to the devastating human and economic cost of the COVID-19 pandemic combined with political unrest in the U.S., the 12-month period ended December 31, 2020, witnessed the Standard & Poor's 500® ("S&P 500®") Index reach a record high of 3,756.07 from 3,234.85 at the start of the year. This was despite plummeting to 2,237.40 on March 23, 2020 as the effects of the pandemic caused the U.S. economy to stall. This dramatic change in fortune for equity markets was due in large part by a swift, sweeping response to the economic shutdown in March 2020 by the U.S. Federal Reserve (the "Fed"), which has continued to signal its intention to use ultra-accommodative monetary policy to strive toward full employment and 2% inflation via unprecedented measures. The central bank's commitment to keeping interest rates near zero and its bond-buying program to lessen the risk of corporate defaults resulted in bountiful debt issuance by corporate borrowers and a growing confidence among equity investors that the investment environment would remain benign for the foreseeable future.

As such, our economic outlook for the coming year is positive, owing to another round of COVID-19 relief and more planned by the new administration, plus the expectation for a successful vaccine distribution. The new package, titled the Coronavirus Response and Relief Supplemental Appropriations Act, delivers a $900 billion injection into the economy, bringing total COVID-related aid to over $3.5 trillion including the 2020 bill, or roughly 8.5% of 2020–2021 gross domestic product ("GDP"). On this measure, it is already 3.5x more than the stimulus delivered in the five years following the financial crisis.

The latest round of fiscal stimulus should cause a surge in personal income during the first quarter, and a significant percentage of the population should be vaccinated or immune from prior infection by mid-2021. It is likely that local governments will be able to begin to relax restrictions even before herd immunity is reached since hospitalizations should fall once the elderly are vaccinated. As we move through the year, consumer spending growth should start to accelerate, spurred on by elevated personal savings and strong gains in household net worth. Elsewhere, the housing market will continue to benefit from tight supply and low interest rates, and business investment should rebound as corporations look to put to work record levels of precautionary cash. As a result, we expect real GDP growth to be well above potential for the year.

If the unemployment rate continues to fall at its recent pace and inflation picks up with its usual six-quarter lag behind economic activity, the experience of prior cycles would suggest that the Fed could start its hiking cycle as early as late-2022. However, the change in the Fed's playbook will keep it sidelined for years as it looks to make up for shortfalls related to its 2% inflation target and no longer worries about an overly tight labor market.

This means the Fed is likely to keep rates at zero for several years beyond the late-2023 liftoff currently priced into the bond market. Similarly, the odds are low of a tapering of the Fed's bond purchases in 2021. While we believe the government response to the pandemic was necessary and appropriate, investors are already paying some price with more elevated valuations due in part to the Fed's aggressive relaunch of quantitative easing. Under these circumstances, investors will likely continue to take on more risk as long as more fiscal support is underway and while the Fed remains willing to backstop credit markets to support financial conditions.

For the 12-month period ended December 31, 2020, the S&P 500® Index* returned 18.40%. The MSCI Europe-Australasia-Far East ("EAFE") Index* returned 7.82%. The return of the MSCI Emerging Markets Index* was 15.84%.

In the bond market, the Bloomberg Barclays U.S. Aggregate Bond Index* posted a 7.51% return for the 12-month period, while the Bloomberg Barclays U.S. Corporate High Yield Index* returned 7.11%. The return of the ICE Bank of America ("BofA") Merrill Lynch 3-Month U.S. Treasury Bill Index* was 0.67% for the 12-month period.

All mutual funds have operating expenses, and it is important for our shareholders to understand the impact of costs on their investments. Shareholders of a fund incur two types of costs: (i) transaction costs, including sales charges (loads) on purchase payments, reinvested dividends, other distributions, and exchange fees, and (ii) ongoing costs, including management fees, administrative services, and shareholder reports, among others. These ongoing costs, or operating expenses, are deducted from a fund's gross income and reduce the investment return of the fund.

A fund's expenses are expressed as a percentage of its average net assets, which is known as the expense ratio. The following examples are intended to help investors understand the ongoing costs (in dollars) of investing in a fund and to compare these costs with the ongoing costs of investing in other mutual funds.

The examples are based on an investment of $1,000 made at the beginning of the period and held for the entire six-month period beginning June 30, 2020 and ending December 31, 2020.

The following tables illustrate the Funds' costs in two ways:

Table 1. Based on actual Fund return: This section helps investors estimate the actual expenses paid over the period. The "Ending Account Value" shown is derived from the Fund's actual return, and the fifth column shows the dollar amount that would have been paid by an investor who started with $1,000 in the Fund. Investors may use the information here, together with the amount invested, to estimate the expenses paid over the period. Simply divide the Fund's account value by $1,000 (for example, an $8,600 account value divided by $1,000 = 8.6), then multiply the result by the number provided under the heading "Expenses Paid During Period."

Table 2. Based on hypothetical 5% return: This section is intended to help investors compare a fund's cost with those of other mutual funds. The table provides information about hypothetical account values and hypothetical expenses based on the Fund's actual expense ratio and an assumed rate of return of 5% per year before expenses, which is not the Fund's actual return. The hypothetical account values and expenses may not be used to estimate the actual ending account balance or expenses paid during the period. The example is useful in making comparisons because the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (the "SEC") requires all mutual funds to calculate expenses based on the 5% return. Investors can assess a fund's costs by comparing this hypothetical example with the hypothetical examples that appear in shareholder reports of other funds.

The calculations illustrated above assume no shares were bought or sold during the period. Actual costs may have been higher or lower, depending on the amount of investment and the timing of any purchases or redemptions.

Please note that the expenses shown in the table are meant to highlight your ongoing costs only and do not reflect any transactional costs, such as sales charges (loads) on purchase payments, and contingent deferred sales charges ("CDSC") on redemptions, if any. Therefore, the second table is useful in comparing ongoing costs only, and will not help you determine the relative total costs of owning different funds. In addition, if these transactional costs were included, your costs would have been higher.

More information about the Funds' expenses, including annual expense ratios for periods up to five years (subject to the Fund's inception date), can be found in the Financial Highlights section of this report. For additional information on operating expenses and other shareholder costs, please refer to the appropriate Fund prospectus.

³ Actual cumulative return at net asset value for the period June 30, 2020 to December 31, 2020.

To Our Shareholders:

The Series A (StylePlus™—Large Core Series) (the “Fund”) is managed by a team of seasoned professionals, including Farhan Sharaff, Senior Managing Director and Assistant Chief Investment Officer, Equities; Qi Yan, Managing Director and Portfolio Manager; and Adam J. Bloch, Managing Director and Portfolio Manager. In the following paragraphs, the investment team discusses performance of the Fund for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2020.

For the year ended December 31, 2020, Series A (StylePlus—Large Core Series) returned 18.78%, compared with the 18.40% return of its benchmark, the S&P 500® Index.

Investment Approach

Through a combination of actively managed individual equity, passive equity, and actively managed fixed income, the Fund seeks to exceed the total return of the S&P 500 Index. The actively managed equity and fixed income components seek to provide multiple sources of outperformance and take advantage of Guggenheim's competencies in both fixed income and systematic stock selection.

The active and passive allocation decisions seek to add value by tactically allocating to actively managed equity through quantitative selection models when stock picking opportunities are high. During periods when Guggenheim views these opportunities to be less attractive, the Fund seeks to increase its passive exposure to equities and the allocation to fixed-income securities. The prospective return during such periods is the equity index plus an “alpha” component coming from the yield of the fixed-income overlay.

Performance Review

Over the period, from 15-25% of the total equity position was allocated to actively managed equity and 75-85% to passive equity. Remaining Fund assets were invested in the Guggenheim Strategy Funds, short-term fixed-income investment companies advised by Guggenheim Investments, and the Guggenheim Ultra Short Duration Fund whose objective is to seek a high level of income consistent with the preservation of capital.

The Fund outperformed the S&P 500 Index for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2020 by 38 basis points net of fees. The fixed income sleeve contributed to total return, as positions in the Guggenheim Ultra Short Duration Fund and the Guggenheim Strategy Funds, net of the investment income earned by these positions, were positive for the period. The actively managed equity sleeve detracted from performance on a relative basis. The passive equity position, maintained through swap agreements and futures contracts, had an insignificant impact on relative performance for the period.

Performance displayed represents past performance which is no guarantee of future results.

* The performance data above represents past performance that is not predictive of future results. The investment return and principal value of an investment in the Fund will fluctuate so that an investor's shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost. Returns are historical and include changes in principal and reinvested dividends and capital gains and do not reflect the effect of taxes. The S&P 500 Index is an unmanaged index and, unlike the Fund, has no management fees or operating expenses to reduce its reported return.

† Performance figures do not reflect fees and expenses associated with an investment in variable insurance products. If returns had taken into account these fees and expenses, performance would have been lower. Shares of a series of Guggenheim Variable Funds Trust are available only through the purchase of such products.

To Our Shareholders:

The Series B (Large Cap Value Series) is managed by a team of seasoned professionals led by David Toussaint, CFA, CPA, Managing Director and Portfolio Manager; James Schier, CFA, Senior Managing Director and Portfolio Manager; Farhan Sharaff, Senior Managing Director, Assistant Chief Investment Officer, Equities, and Portfolio Manager; Gregg Strohkorb, CFA, Director and Portfolio Manager; and Burak Hurmeydan, Ph.D., Director and Portfolio Manager. In the following paragraphs, the team discusses performance of the Fund for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2020.

For the year ended December 31, 2020, Series B (Large Cap Value Series) returned 2.21%, compared with the Russell 1000® Value Index, which returned 2.80%.

Strategy and Market Overview

Our investment approach focuses on understanding how companies make money and how easily companies can improve returns, maintain existing high levels of profitability, or benefit from change that occurs within the industries in which they operate. In today's rapidly changing environment marked by very sharp and quick, but constrained volatility, our long-term orientation and discipline are a competitive advantage. This should become especially critical when the environment of indiscriminant valuation expansion subsides, and fundamentals once again become a more dominant factor in the market.

Performance Review

Dominating the market for the period was the strong outperformance of growth versus value stocks, despite occasional signs that the situation might be ready to turn. Significant monetary and fiscal stimulus and the low-rate environment helped multiples of growth stocks expand more than those of value stocks, leading to stocks with extreme valuations to experience continued multiple expansion.

The Information Technology sector was the bright spot for the Fund for the period, along with lesser contributions from Materials and Health Care. Performance was aided by relative contributions from Energy, where the Fund's holdings—despite a negative return overall—strongly outperformed those in the benchmark. Information Technology benefited from an overweight, the Fund's largest relative to the benchmark, and strong selection, especially in Apple Computer, Micron Technology, and Intel. Top individual contributors included Olin Corp. and Westlake Chemical Corp. in the Materials space and Alexion Pharmaceuticals in Health Care.

The Energy sector in the Fund relatively outperformed that in the benchmark, but its slightly larger allocation detracted from performance. Leading individual contributors were Range Resources and Cabot Oil & Gas, which benefited from firming in natural gas prices. Marathon Oil was a major sector detractor.

Sectors detracting from performance included Financials and Utilities. The Fund's Financials holdings underperformed those in the benchmark, and the impact was magnified by the sector's large weighting, the largest in both the Fund and the benchmark. Major banks such as Wells Fargo and Citigroup were large detractors due to perceived weaker economic activity as a result of COVID, and the Fed's lowering of interest rates in reaction to the pandemic. In Utilities, the Fund was hurt by having little exposure to the better-performing renewables space, which also had higher valuations and thus did not possess value characteristics sought by the Fund.

A large individual detractor was Staples company Tyson Foods, which fell as thousands of its employees tested positive for COVID during the summer.

Portfolio Positioning

While this strategy is balanced relative to the benchmark, the size of companies it owns is typically smaller, given their often-better growth opportunities.

At the end of the period, the Fund's largest sector overweights on average relative to the benchmark were in Tech and Health Care. The Fund's largest sector underweights were in Industrials and Consumer Staples.

Portfolio and Market Outlook

The market outlook is indeed murkier than usual. The expectation of a government and a Federal Reserve willing to do whatever is necessary to help the economy and the markets will need to meet the growing limitations that an increasingly indebted nation must eventually face. However, near term benefits of stimulus money and a Federal Reserve willing to commit to near zero interest rates for an indefinite period suggest a buoyant near-term outlook.

Performance displayed represents past performance which is no guarantee of future results.

The investment return and principal value of an investment in the Fund will fluctuate so that an investor's shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost. Returns are historical and include changes in principal and reinvested dividends and capital gains and do not reflect the effect of taxes. The Russell 1000 Value Index is an unmanaged index and, unlike the Fund, has no management fees or operating expenses to reduce its reported return.

To Our Shareholders:

The Series D (World Equity Income Series) is managed by a team of seasoned professionals, including Farhan Sharaff, Senior Managing Director and Assistant Chief Investment Officer, Equities, and Portfolio Manager; Evan Einstein, Director and Portfolio Manager; and Douglas Makin, Director and Portfolio Manager. In the following paragraphs, the investment team discusses performance for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2020.

For the one-year period ended December 31, 2020, Series D (World Equity Income Series) returned 6.65%, compared with the 15.90% return of its benchmark, the MSCI World Index.

Performance Review

The Fund underperformed the Index but delivered on its mandate to provide current equity income while providing a stable long-term total return. During the year, the Fund balanced generating income while doing so with lower risk than the benchmark. The Fund tends to underperform in times of strong market gains.

The trailing twelve month income distribution yield of the Fund was 2.72%* as of the end of the period. Besides helping investors navigate the declining rate environment; being cognizant of companies with unsustainable dividends is one of the primary drivers for the Fund's track record relative to peers.

The tactical currency hedge, which helps to reduce volatility and is achieved via currency futures contracts, contributed to performance this year, as the dollar was strong during the first half of the year despite some choppy periods for key exchange rates.

The Fund had negative selection attribution but positive allocation. Information Technology made the biggest contribution to selection performance as growth names led the market for much of the period. Leading detractors in selection were Consumer Discretionary and Consumer Staples.

From a complete sector attribution standpoint, the contribution from Energy led overall relative performance. And the fund's largest weighted sector, Information Technology, had the largest absolute portfolio contribution. The biggest relative detractor was Consumer Discretionary, the largest relative underweight.

From a country perspective, the Fund benefited most from its underweight in France and Germany and from its overweight in Denmark and Switzerland. The lower weight and lower performance of the Fund's U.S. holdings as compared with the benchmark was a significant detractor, as were the Fund's Japan and Canada holdings.

The panic spawned by COVID-19 earlier in the year seemed to be less of a concern at period end, as central banks worked to prop up the markets. Relief set in over the summer, and growth companies, especially in Technology, propelled markets higher, as did Consumer Discretionary, Telecommunication Services, and Materials. The Fund leaned into this shift, and these sectors were the top-returning ones in the Fund for the year. The top individual holdings for the year were Apple Computer and Amazon.com. The leading detractors from return were Sysco and Exxon Mobil, hurt by an overall downturn in energy.

Portfolio Positioning

Although lagging the MSCI World Index in each quarter, the Fund delivered positive performance for three of four quarters. Compared with the Index, the Fund is positioned more cautiously, as we question whether the recent ascent will continue for much longer. The fund also continued to invest more in positions with higher yields than the benchmark. Over the year, on average, the weight in Telecommunications Services increased the most, while Health Care decreased the most.

We believe global equities remain a critical allocation in investors' portfolios. To prepare for the future and the uncertainty it brings, investors often benefit from seeking out dividend yield, but should avoid reaching for yield that may be excessive or unsustainable.

* Calculated by taking the most recent annual income distribution and dividing by the NAV per share as of 12/31/2020. This rate does not represent the total return of a fund.

* The performance data above represents past performance that is not predictive of future results. The investment return and principal value of an investment in the Fund will fluctuate so that an investor's shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost. Returns are historical and include changes in principal and reinvested dividends and capital gains and do not reflect the effect of taxes. The MSCI World Index is an unmanaged index and, unlike the Fund, has no management fees or operating expenses to reduce its reported return.

† Performance figures do not reflect fees and expenses associated with an investment in variable insurance products. If returns had taken into account these fees and expenses, performance would have been lower. Shares of a series of Guggenheim Variable Funds Trust are available only through the purchase of such products.

To Our Shareholders:

The Series E (Total Return Bond Series) is managed by a team of seasoned professionals, including B. Scott Minerd, Chairman of Investments and Global Chief Investment Officer; Anne B. Walsh, Senior Managing Director and Chief Investment Officer, Fixed Income; Steven H. Brown, CFA, Senior Managing Director and Portfolio Manager; and Adam J. Bloch, Managing Director and Portfolio Manager. In the following paragraphs, the investment team discusses the market environment and the Fund's performance for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2020.

For the one-year period ended December 31, 2020, Total Return Bond Series E returned 14.21%, compared with the 7.51% return of its benchmark, the Bloomberg Barclays U.S. Aggregate Bond Index.

The Fund seeks to provide total return, comprised of current income and capital appreciation. The Fund pursues its investment objective by investing primarily in high-quality, investment-grade fixed-income securities across multiple sectors. The Fund employs a relative-value sector allocation strategy, offering the opportunity to capitalize on total return potential created by changing market conditions.

The portfolio was defensively positioned coming into 2020 because we viewed the risk versus reward trade-off of owning corporate credit as unattractive, as economic momentum was stalling as we reached the later innings of the credit cycle. The Fund maintained a significant liquidity buffer and limited exposure to higher-risk asset classes. As spreads swung from cycle tights to near historically wide levels, the Fund profitably unwound credit protection credit default swap index hedges and took advantage of dislocations across corporate credit markets by adding both investment-grade and high-yield corporate exposure.

The resetting of valuations across most asset classes presented opportunities and prompted us to meaningfully increase the Fund's credit beta. Beginning in mid-March, credit spreads reached levels that had rarely been wider, which completely changed the value proposition and upside/ downside risk of investing in credit. The most attractive categories of focus have been new issue investment-grade corporates, select opportunities in the high-yield and loan sectors, and secondary market opportunities in structured credit. Even as credit spreads retraced from their mid-March wides, they still presented attractive long-term value.

Over the 12-month period, investment-grade corporate credit was the largest contributor to Fund performance. Scale, revenue diversity, and several liquidity levers at their disposal continue to help investment-grade-rated companies weather the pandemic, and makes the sector an attractive place to allocate capital. Investment-grade companies have bolstered their balance sheets by terming out debt maturities at historically low interest rates. After a robust record supply in 2020, totaling roughly $1.8 trillion, street estimates for 2021 predict about $1.2 trillion in issuance, which should support a favorable technical backdrop for credit investors. The global search for yield remains strong and greater dollar liquidity has helped keep the cost of currency hedging for foreign investors low, so we continue to see robust overseas demand for U.S. credit. Headlines on election concerns, stimulus rhetoric, and increased COVID-19 cases all contributed to short term volatility. However, we believe the investment-grade corporate bond market will see buyers step in at wider levels and we anticipate spreads will trade relatively range bound into the new year.

Structured credit, which totaled a quarter of the Fund's allocation at period end, added to performance. Improving sentiment toward broader market risk continued to flow into the structured credit markets. We continued to favor senior tranches, as subordinated positions may encounter further credit losses that are not yet priced in should the economic impact of COVID-19, coupled with a lack of a fiscal stimulus bill, persist. With that said, we see opportunities in whole-business asset-backed securities ("ABS") financing for market-leading quick-service restaurant concepts, digital infrastructure securitizations, and select esoteric ABS that offer compelling yields with strong credit fundamentals.

Since the initial increase of borrowers in forbearance in April 2020, residential mortgage-backed securities' credit performance stabilized, and spreads tightened. New-home starts accelerated past expectations during the third quarter of 2020, leading to more confidence within the sector. Mortgage credit performance will continue to be dependent on the broader economy, but most of the positions in the Fund are not reliant on a sustained recovery given that the exposure is significantly seasoned.

Since March 2020, the Fund added high-yield exposure in the higher quality portion of the market in particular, including in fallen angels. The U.S. Federal Reserve's (the "Fed's") SMCCF program remained in place and continued to support the market mostly via the supportive sentiment it engenders as opposed to the total purchase volumes. The facility has not used the vast majority of its buying power and would likely step in if credit volatility resurfaces. While new-issue supply has set all-time highs in 2020, as $400 billion has been issued in high yield, compared to $275 billion last year, investor demand has remained very strong. We opportunistically sourced high yield bonds for the portfolio, especially via the primary market, given the attractive relative yield pickup versus other sectors.

Overall duration ended the period at 7.5 years versus the benchmark's duration of 6.1 years, and the positioning serves as a risk ballast to the strategy's credit allocation. This is also consistent with our view that the Fed will be able to keep rates inside 10 years from rising substantially and the possibility of negative rates at some point. Past economic cycles, such as 2001 and 2009, have shown that it takes several years for U.S. Treasury yields to bottom.

The Fund used the following derivative types during the period: options, futures contracts, swap agreements, and forward foreign currency exchange contracts. Synthetic, over-the-counter instruments, tracking spreads on the 2Y-10Y constant maturity swap and presented as call options, were used for hedging purposes. Futures contracts were used to manage portfolio duration, for income, and for hedging purposes. Total return swap agreements were used for income. Interest rate swap agreements were used to manage portfolio duration and for hedging. Credit default swap agreements were used for hedging as well as to achieve index exposure to the broader investment grade and high yield credit markets. Forward foreign currency exchange contracts were used for income and hedging purposes. Derivatives used for hedging performed as expected. The use of derivatives contributed to Fund performance.

The Fund may invest in certain of the underlying series of Guggenheim Funds Trust and Guggenheim Strategy Funds Trust, including Guggenheim Ultra Short Duration, Guggenheim Strategy Fund II, Guggenheim Strategy Fund III, and Guggenheim Variable Insurance Strategy Fund III, (collectively, the "Short-Term Investment Vehicles"), each of which are open-end management investment companies managed by Guggenheim Investments. The Short Term Investment Vehicles, which launched on March 11, 2014, are offered as short term investment options only to mutual funds, trusts, and other accounts managed by Guggenheim Investments and/or its affiliates, and are not available to the public, with the exception of Guggenheim Ultra Short Duration Fund, which is available to the public. Guggenheim Strategy Fund II, Guggenheim Strategy Fund III, and Guggenheim Variable Insurance Strategy Fund III do not charge an investment management fee. Guggenheim Ultra Short Duration Fund charges an investment management fee, but the Fund's adviser has agreed to waive fees to the extent necessary to offset the proportionate share of any management fee paid by the Fund with respect to its investment in such affiliated fund. For the one-year period ended December 31, 2020, investment in the Short-Term Investment Vehicles benefited Fund performance.

* The performance data above represents past performance that is not predictive of future results. The investment return and principal value of an investment in the Fund will fluctuate so that an investor's shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost. Returns are historical and include changes in principal and reinvested dividends and capital gains and do not reflect the effect of taxes. The Bloomberg Barclays U.S. Aggregate Bond Index is an unmanaged index and, unlike the Fund, has no management fees or operating expenses to reduce its reported return.

† Performance figures do not reflect fees and expenses associated with an investment in variable insurance products. If returns had taken into account these fees and expenses, performance would have been lower. Shares of a series of Guggenheim Variable Funds Trust are available only through the purchase of such products.

¹ Source: BlackRock Solutions. Credit quality ratings are measured on a scale that generally ranges from AAA (highest) to D (lowest). All securities except for those labeled "NR" have been rated by Moody's, Standard & Poor's ("S&P"), or Fitch, each of which is a Nationally Recognized Statistical Rating Organization ("NRSRO"). For purposes of this presentation, when ratings are available from more than one agency, the highest rating is used. Guggenheim Investments has converted ratings to the equivalent S&P rating. Security ratings are determined at the time of purchase and may change thereafter.

To Our Shareholders:

The Series F (Floating Rate Series) is managed by a team of seasoned professionals, including B. Scott Miner, Chairman of Investments and Global Chief Investment Officer; Anne B. Walsh, Senior Managing Director and Chief Investment Officer, Fixed Income; Kevin H. Gundersen, Senior Managing Director and Portfolio Manager; Thomas J. Hauser, Senior Managing Director and Portfolio Manager. In the following paragraphs, the investment team discusses the market environment and Series performance for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2020.

For the year ended December 31, 2020, Series F (Floating Rate Series) returned 0.01% net of fees, compared with 2.78% for its benchmark, the Credit Suisse Leveraged Loan Index.

Performance Overview

Underperformance in recent quarters has been driven by similar factors, in which relative returns were impacted by owning fewer top performers as opposed to owning an outsized portion of bottom performers. In March and the second quarter of 2020 we took steps to realign the portfolio to endure the pandemic and an associated protracted downturn: increasing quality, selling a number of distressed positions and swapping into credits with better liquidity positions and forward-looking business prospects. While we added many names at notable discounts to par, the names which we purchased were generally higher in price than those we sold.

We have generally seen a rally in weaker issuers, with CCCs returning ~10% in the fourth quarter and 5.4% in 2020. Our underweight to CCCs and underweight to stressed issuers both contributed to underperformance.

Market Overview

The leveraged credit sector has delivered stellar performance since the COVID-driven lows in March. Prices have recovered to over 90% of par, and spreads have tightened to historical average levels. While the recovery from the initial economic shock from COVID-19 has been faster than expected, it has been helped by improved consumer confidence measures and personal income growth due to massive fiscal support. The U.S. Federal Reserve and Treasury's continued support for corporate borrowers has addressed market functioning, providing indirect support of the leveraged loan markets.

The fourth quarter witnessed a continuation of the rally that started in mid-March following vaccine optimism and potential for additional fiscal stimulus, with only a brief pause in October driven by election uncertainty. The Credit Suisse Leveraged Loan Index returned 2.8%, but despite the favorable outcome, loans trailed the Bank of America High Yield Index (+6.2%) and the S&P 500 (+18.4%).

Virus-sensitive names rallied in the fourth quarter, with Aerospace (+7.3%), Energy (+6.6%), Gaming/Leisure (+6.2%) and Metals (5.9%) leading. CCCs outperformed in both the fourth quarter and 2020, returning 9.5% and 5.4%, respectively. Although counterintuitive to see in a year when loan prices declined in aggregate, many loan issuers were downgraded earlier in the year only to subsequently rally sharply. According to Credit Suisse, the portion of the market bid above par has reached 8.9% compared to 44.8% at year-end 2019. The market value of the market priced below 80 ended the year only 4.4% after spiking to 28.4% at March 31.

Institutional loan volume in the fourth quarter of $81 billion was 9% above third quarter levels, 10% above the fourth quarter of 2019, and was driven by a continued rebound in M&A and LBO activity. M&A activity was primarily driven by sponsor-backed companies with corporate M&A very light at $5.1 billion (the lowest since 2012, per S&P LCD). Despite the pandemic, 2020 issuance in total was down only 7% from 2019, and dividend deals were up 25% YoY to $34 billion. Refinancing activity was unsurprisingly down in 2020 as wider secondary market spreads made many potential refinancings and repricings uneconomical.

Demand technicals continued improving during the fourth quarter. CLO issuance accelerated to $31 billion, an annualized pace of ~$96 billion which would be on par with activity seen in 2017, albeit still well below annualized levels seen in 2018-2019. CLOs continued to be the primary buyer with mutual fund flows flat, though fund flows did turn slightly positive during the latter portion of the quarter as the yield curve steepened. Healthy bond-for-loan takeout volume continued as well, providing an additional boost to the demand technical picture.

Indicators of fundamentals continued stabilizing across the loan market as the year carried on. The distressed rate ended December at 7%, as compared to 11% in September and 23% in March. At the same time, the decline in the downgrade-to-upgrade ratio has been even more pronounced, reaching 1x in December versus a high of 43x in May. The default rate has also improved and ticked lower to 3.8%, down from 4.2% over the last quarter. Ongoing spread contraction indicates that fundamentals may continue to improve, although it is likely that defaults will remain elevated for much of 2021.

Market Outlook and Positioning:

Heading into 2021, the outlook for the U.S. economy and leveraged loan asset class is materially improved, driven by prospects for vaccine distribution to boost economic normalization and for a Democratic government to provide further fiscal stimulus. We believe it is likely that as the elderly are vaccinated, fatality and hospitalization rates will fall, allowing for more economic activity to resume. This will likely benefit those portions of the loan market that are still most depressed, such as the leisure sector, although certain secularly challenged industries such as movie theatres and retailers will likely continue to face ongoing challenges.

We expect default rates to continue to rise slightly through the middle of 2021 as residual stresses continue to move through the market, particularly in energy and retail, where average prices are still $79 and $86, respectively, according to Credit Suisse. As earnings improve, we expect to see deleveraging, but in a bifurcated and uneven manner throughout the year. An environment of stabilization and spread compression should drive returns in the 5% area, driven by average coupons of 4.1% and residual price upside.

Most recently, our buying has been tilted towards better rated credits in the triple-B to high single-B area. Opportunities have ranged from higher-quality, well-structured transactions benefitting companies in pandemic-related sectors, to mid-tier credit but less risky industries such as technology and communications. Of late, we have focused purchases primarily in the primary market, where attractive new issue spreads accompany firms with credit fundamentals that should continue to perform well.

* The performance data above represents past performance that is not predictive of future results. The investment return and principal value of an investment in the Fund will fluctuate so that an investor's shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost. Returns are historical and include changes in principal and reinvested dividends and capital gains and do not reflect the effect of taxes. The Credit Suisse Leveraged Loan Index is an unmanaged index and, unlike the Fund, has no management fees or operating expenses to reduce its reported return.

† Performance figures do not reflect fees and expenses associated with an investment in variable insurance products. If returns had taken into account these fees and expenses, performance would have been lower. Shares of a series of Guggenheim Variable Funds Trust are available only through the purchase of such products.

All securities except for those labeled "NR" have been rated by Moody's, Standard & Poor's ("S&P"), or Fitch, each of which is a Nationally Recognized Statistical Rating Organization ("NRSRO"). For purposes of this presentation, when ratings are available from more than one agency, the highest rating is used. Guggenheim Investments has converted ratings to the equivalent S&P rating. Security ratings are determined at the time of purchase and may change thereafter.

* Inputs are weighted by the fair value of the instruments.

Significant changes in a quote, yield or valuation multiple would generally result in significant changes in the fair value of the security.

The Fund's fair valuation leveling guidelines classify a single daily broker quote, or a vendor price based on a single daily or monthly broker quote, as Level 3, if such a quote or price cannot be supported with other available market information.

Transfers between Level 2 and Level 3 may occur as markets fluctuate and/or the availability of data used in an investment's valuation changes. For the year ended December 31, 2020, the Fund had securities with a total value of $264,859 transfer into Level 3 from Level 2 due to lack of observable inputs and had securities with a total market value of $666,613 transfer out of Level 3 to Level 2 due to the availability of current and reliable market-based data provided by a third-party pricing service which utilizes significant observable inputs.

To Our Shareholders:

The Series J (StylePlus™—Mid Growth Series) (the “Fund”) is managed by a team of seasoned professionals, including Farhan Sharaff, Senior Managing Director and Assistant Chief Investment Officer, Equities; Qi Yan, Managing Director and Portfolio Manager; and Adam J. Bloch, Managing Director and Portfolio Manager. In the following paragraphs, the investment team discusses performance of the Fund for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2020.

For the year ended December 31, 2020, Series J (StylePlus—Mid Growth Series) returned 32.10%, compared with the 35.59% return of its benchmark, the Russell Midcap® Growth Index.

Investment Approach

Through a combination of actively managed individual equity, passive equity, and actively managed fixed income, the Fund seeks to exceed the total return of the Russell Midcap Growth Index. The actively managed equity and fixed income components seek to provide multiple sources of outperformance and take advantage of Guggenheim's competencies in both fixed income and systematic stock selection.

The active and passive decisions seek to add value by tactically allocating to actively managed equity through quantitative selection models when stock picking opportunities are high. During periods when Guggenheim views these opportunities to be less attractive, the Fund seeks to increase its passive exposure to equities and the allocation to fixed income securities. The prospective return during such periods is the equity index plus an “alpha” component coming from the yield of the fixed income overlay.

Performance Review

Over the period, from 15-25% of the total equity position was allocated to actively managed equity and 75-85% to passive equity. Remaining Fund assets were invested in the Guggenheim Strategy Funds, short-term fixed income investment companies advised by Guggenheim Investments, and the Guggenheim Ultra Short Duration Fund, whose objective is to seek a high level of income consistent with the preservation of capital.

The Fund underperformed the Russell Midcap Growth Index for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2020 by 349 basis points net of fees. The fixed income sleeve contributed to total return, as positions in the Guggenheim Ultra Short Duration Fund and the Guggenheim Strategy Funds, net of the investment income earned by these positions, were positive for the period. The actively managed equity sleeve detracted from performance on a relative basis. The passive equity position, maintained through swap agreements and futures contracts, had an insignificant impact on relative performance for the period.

Performance displayed represents past performance which is no guarantee of future results.

* The performance data above represents past performance that is not predictive of future results. The investment return and principal value of an investment in the Fund will fluctuate so that an investor's shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost. Returns are historical and include changes in principal and reinvested dividends and capital gains and do not reflect the effect of taxes. The Russell Midcap Growth Index is an unmanaged index and, unlike the Fund, has no management fees or operating expenses to reduce its reported return.

† Performance figures do not reflect fees and expenses associated with an investment in variable insurance products. If returns had taken into account these fees and expenses, performance would have been lower. Shares of a series of Guggenheim Variable Funds Trust are available only through the purchase of such products.

To Our Shareholders:

The Series N (Managed Asset Allocation Series) is managed by a team of seasoned professionals, including Michael P. Byrum, CFA, Portfolio Manager; Ryan Harder, CFA, Portfolio Manager; and Matthew Wu, Ph.D., CFA, Portfolio Manager. In the following paragraphs, the team discusses performance of the Series for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2020.

For the year ended December 31, 2020, Series N (Managed Asset Allocation Series) returned 12.59%, compared with its weighted benchmark that is 60% S&P 500® Index and 40% Barclays U.S. Aggregate Bond Index, which returned 14.73%. The S&P 500 Index returned 18.40% over the year and the Bloomberg Barclays U.S. Aggregate Bond Index returned 7.51%.

The year 2020 was unusually volatile, beginning with a pandemic that forced a rapid fall in the market. The U.S. Federal Reserve quickly cut rates and announced aggressive bond purchase plans, while a large relief act was passed by Congress, prompting the market to strongly rebound. Helped by announcements of the successful development of vaccines, the stock market built on its gains and turned in one of the strongest ever months in November.

Despite the volatility, all the Fund's core holdings delivered positive returns. ETFs and futures contracts on the Russell 2000 Index became the largest winner. The best performer of the prior few years—ETFs and futures on S&P 500—was the second-best performer, followed by S&P MidCap 400 Index. Similar to 2019, bonds underperformed U.S. equity, with the 2-year Treasury bill the least, followed by iShares Core US Aggregate Bond ETF. However, the 10-year treasury still managed to outperform iShares MSCI EAFE ETF.

Performance displayed represents past performance which is no guarantee of future results.

The opinions and forecast expressed may not actually come to pass. This information is subject to change at any time, based on market and other conditions, and should not be construed as a recommendation of any specific security or strategy.

To Our Shareholders:

The Series O (All Cap Value Series) is managed by a team of seasoned professionals led by James Schier, CFA, Senior Managing Director and Portfolio Manager; David Toussaint, CFA, CPA, Managing Director and Portfolio Manager; Farhan Sharaff, Senior Managing Director, Assistant Chief Investment Officer, Equities, and Portfolio Manager; Gregg Strohkorb, CFA, Director Portfolio Manager; and Burak Hurmeydan, Ph.D., Director and Portfolio Manager. In the following paragraphs, the team discusses performance of the Fund for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2020.

For the year ended December 31, 2020, Series O (All Cap Value Series) returned 1.88%, compared with the Russell 3000® Value Index, which returned 2.87%.

Strategy and Market Overview

Our investment approach focuses on understanding how companies make money and how easily companies can improve returns, maintain existing high levels of profitability, or benefit from change that occurs within the industries in which they operate. In today's rapidly changing environment marked by very sharp and quick, but constrained volatility, our long-term orientation and discipline are a competitive advantage. This should become especially critical when the environment of indiscriminant valuation expansion subsides, and fundamentals once again become a more dominant factor in the market.

Performance Review

Dominating the market for the period was the strong outperformance of growth versus value stocks, despite occasional signs that the situation might be ready to turn. Significant monetary and fiscal stimulus and the low-rate environment helped multiples of growth stocks expand more than those of value stocks, leading to stocks with extreme valuations to experience continued multiple expansion.

The Information Technology sector was the bright spot for the Fund for the period, along with lesser contributions from Health Care and Materials. Performance was aided by relative contributions from Real Estate and Energy, where the Fund's holdings—despite a negative return overall—strongly outperformed those in the benchmark. Information Technology benefited from an overweight, the Fund's largest relative to the benchmark, and strong selection, especially in Apple Computer and Micron Technology. Top individual contributors included Olin Corp. and Westlake Chemical Corp. in the Materials space and Alexion Pharmaceuticals in Health Care.

The Energy sector in the Fund relatively outperformed that in the benchmark, but its slightly larger allocation detracted from performance. Leading individual contributors were Range Resources, which benefited from firming in natural gas prices. Chevron and Marathon Oil were major sector detractors. Office REIT Equity Commonwealth was the main contributors, while commercial REIT Howard Hughes Corp. was the main detractor.

Sectors detracting from performance included Financials and Utilities. The Fund's Financial holdings underperformed those in the benchmark, and the impact was magnified by the sector's large weighting, the largest in both the Fund and the benchmark. Major banks such as Wells Fargo and Citigroup were large detractors due to perceived weaker economic activity as a result of COVID, and the Fed's lowering of interest rates in reaction to the pandemic. In Utilities, the Fund was hurt by having no exposure to the better-performing renewables space, which also had higher valuations and thus did not possess value characteristics sought by the Fund.

A large individual detractor was Consumer Staples company Tyson Foods, which fell as thousands of its employees tested positive for COVID during the summer. The contribution from Consumer Discretionary, slightly negative, was not as bad as it could have been through an overweight to homebuilder D. R. Horton, which returned more than 30% over the period.

Portfolio Positioning

While this strategy is balanced relative to the benchmark, the size of companies it owns is typically smaller, given their often-better growth opportunities.

Over the period, the Fund's largest sector overweights on average relative to the benchmark were in Tech and Financials. The Fund's largest sector underweights were in Health Care and Communication Services.

Portfolio and Market Outlook

The market outlook is indeed murkier than usual. The expectation of a government and a Federal Reserve willing to do whatever is necessary to help the economy and the markets will need to meet the growing limitations that an increasingly indebted nation must eventually face. However, near term benefits of stimulus money and a Federal Reserve willing to commit to near zero interest rates for an indefinite period suggest a buoyant near-term outlook.

To Our Shareholders

The Series P (High Yield Series) is managed by a team of seasoned professionals, including B. Scott Miner, Chairman of Investments and Global Chief Investment Officer; Kevin H. Gundersen, Senior Managing Director and Portfolio Manager; Thomas J. Hauser, Senior Managing Director and Portfolio Manager; and Richard de Wet, Director and Portfolio Manager. In the following paragraphs, the investment team discusses the market environment and the Fund's performance for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2020.

For the year ended December 31, 2020, Series P (High Yield Series) returned 4.64%, compared to 7.11% return of its benchmark, the Bloomberg Barclays U.S. Corporate High Yield Index.

The high yield market started the year with high bond prices and spreads near historic lows, but rapidly changed with the onset of the Coronavirus in March. Lower quality credit sold off and the new issue market was effectively shut for three weeks. Overall, the high yield market returned -12.7% in the first quarter and was the weakest quarter since fourth quarter of 2008 during the Global Financial Crisis. The Coronavirus outbreak dramatically halted large portions of the U.S. economy to which the U.S. Federal Reserve (the "Fed") responded quickly. The Federal Open Market Committee cut rates by 125 basis points and implemented a series of liquidity programs to support commercial loans, mortgages, corporations, and municipalities. The Fed also agreed to buy bonds from recent fallen angels, adding a strong technical tailwind to the high yield market.

The combination of the monetary and fiscal support helped to jumpstart the high yield market. The new issue market reopened, and issuance has remained robust since. The second and third quarters of 2020 alone saw $276 billion in issuance, which nearly equaled full-year 2019 levels. Over the period, the market experienced sizeable demand, with high-yield fund flows surging $53 billion during the last three quarters of the year. Overall, the market was up 10.2%, 4.6%, and 6.5% in the year's final three quarters, respectively. With the market rally, most sectors exhibited positive performance for the full year period even with the sell-off in the first quarter. At the end of the year, the average high yield corporate bond yield was 4.18% which compares favorably to considerably lower global yields.

The Fund invests in non-U.S. dollar denominated assets when the risk-return profile is favorable. The Fund entered into forward foreign currency exchange contracts to hedge exchange rate risk for non-U.S. dollar denominated positions which had a negligible impact to performance. Non-U.S. dollar denominated assets comprise less than 1% of the Fund. The Fund added high yield credit default swap exposure which contributed to performance.

Fund performance over the period was driven by the exposure to high yield bonds with strong credit selection in Consumer Non-Cyclicals, Communications, and CCC-rated credit. A small exposure to select investment-grade credit contributed to performance as well, along with increased exposure to longer dated maturities. The Fund was underweight Fallen Angels which generally were BB-rated and performed well following their inclusion into high yield indexes. In addition, the Fund increased its cash position at the end of the first quarter with the onset of market volatility and as a result was negatively impacted by the rapid market rally in second quarter. The Fund was also underweight energy by 270 basis points on average which detracted as energy was a top performing sector following the first quarter.

We expect a continued hunt for yield in light of global stimulus and low prevailing yields. We also expect this will mean relaxing credit underwriting standards for many investors, potentially leaving some exposed to credits with weak underlying fundamentals. As primary new issuance has remained robust, we have increased diversification across issuers, and participated in the refinancing of existing holdings when priced attractively.

While the level of distressed assets in the market has come down markedly, we still believe avoiding defaults will be key to achieving performance going forward. We continue to avoid highly levered industries and companies with heavy capital expenditure needs that can impair cash flow. Companies with recurring revenue streams, strong cash flows, and high-quality margins remain the focus in this challenging economic environment.

Performance displayed represents past performance which is no guarantee of future results.

* The performance data above represents past performance that is not predictive of future results. The investment return and principal value of an investment in the Fund will fluctuate so that an investor's shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost. Returns are historical and include changes in principal and reinvested dividends and capital gains and do not reflect the effect of taxes. The Bloomberg Barclays U.S. Corporate High Yield Index is an unmanaged index and, unlike the Fund, has no management fees or operating expenses to reduce its reported return.

† Performance figures do not reflect fees and expenses associated with an investment in variable insurance products. If returns had taken into account these fees and expenses, performance would have been lower. Shares of a series of Guggenheim Variable Funds Trust are available only through the purchase of such products.

¹ Source: BlackRock Solutions. Credit quality ratings are measured on a scale that generally ranges from AAA (highest) to D (lowest). All securities except for those labeled "NR" have been rated by Moody's, Standard & Poor's ("S&P"), or Fitch, each of which is a Nationally Recognized Statistical Rating Organization ("NRSRO"). For purposes of this presentation, when ratings are available from more than one agency, the highest rating is used. Guggenheim Investments has converted ratings to the equivalent S&P rating. Security ratings are determined at the time of purchase and may change thereafter.

To Our Shareholders:

The Series Q (Small Cap Value Series) is managed by a team of seasoned professionals led by David Toussaint, CFA, CPA, Managing Director and Portfolio Manager; James Schier, CFA, Senior Managing Director and Portfolio Manager; Farhan Sharaff, Senior Managing Director, Assistant Chief Investment Officer, Equities, and Portfolio Manager; Gregg Strohkorb, CFA, Director and Portfolio Manager; and Burak Hurmeydan, Ph.D., Director and Portfolio Manager. In the following paragraphs, the team discusses performance of the Fund for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2020.

For the year ended December 31, 2020, Series Q (Small Cap Value Series) returned -0.97%, compared with the Russell 2000® Value Index, which returned 4.63%.

Strategy and Market Overview

Our investment approach focuses on understanding how companies make money and how easily companies can improve returns, maintain existing high levels of profitability, or benefit from change that occurs within the industries in which they operate. In today's rapidly changing environment marked by very sharp and quick, but constrained volatility, our long-term orientation and discipline are a competitive advantage. This should become especially critical when the environment of indiscriminant valuation expansion subsides, and fundamentals once again become a more dominant factor in the market.

Performance Review

Dominating the market for the period was the strong outperformance of growth versus value stocks, despite occasional signs that the situation might be ready to turn. Significant monetary and fiscal stimulus and the low-rate environment helped multiples of growth stocks expand more than those of value stocks, leading to stocks with extreme valuations to experience continued multiple expansion.

Information Technology and Industrials were the bright spots for the Fund for the period, aided by a relative contribution from Energy and Real Estate, where the Fund's holdings—despite a negative return overall—strongly outperformed or was flat versus the benchmark. The Information Technology companies benefiting performance included those poised for the coming roll-out of 5G networks and the resultant capital expenditures needed to improve the storage and flow of ever-increasing data. Among them were MACOM Technology Solutions and Infinera Corp.

Overweighting healthcare and office REITS and underweighting retail and hotel/resort REITs was responsible for the positive relative showing in the Real Estate sector. Office REIT Equity Commonwealth was the main contributor, as was Lexington Realty Trust, a single-tenant industrial REIT, while commercial REIT Howard Hughes Corp. and mortgage REIT Redwood Trust were the main detractors. The Fund's Energy holdings were also a relative contributor to performance, helped by the Fund's position in Range Resources, which benefited from firming in natural gas prices, and not owning many exploration and production companies in the benchmark.

Stock selection also contributed in the Health Care sector, although allocation was a detriment. Emergent Biosolutions, Inc. was a key individual contributor, benefiting from its business model in supplying the government vaccines and securing production agreements with many of the companies at the forefront in the development of COVID vaccines.

Financials and Utilities were major drags on performance, made worse by a negative relative contribution from Materials, Consumer Discretionary, and Consumer Staples, where the Fund's holdings—despite a positive return overall—significantly underperformed those in the benchmark.

The strategy focused on higher quality companies in the Materials and Industrials sectors as compared with the benchmark, which contained many highly levered or highly economically sensitive companies that gained during the latter months of the period. Fund laggards for the year in those sectors included U.S. Concrete, Hawaiian Holdings and Kirby, a diesel engine and marine products company, which fell on concerns of muted economic activity due to COVID.

The Fund's Financials holdings underperformed those in the benchmark, and the impact was magnified by the sector's large weighting, the largest in both the Fund and the benchmark. Insurers were among large detractors, including mortgage insurer Radian Group.

In Utilities, the Fund was hurt by having no exposure to the better-performing renewables space, which also had higher valuations and thus did not possess value characteristics sought by the Fund. Among the electric utilities it did own, Avista Corp. and Portland General Electric were the largest detractors, in part due to perceived lower economic activity resulting from COVID and, particularly in the case of Portland, concerns of liabilities arising from the forest fires in their service area.

Portfolio Positioning

While this strategy is balanced relative to the benchmark, it does possess defensive characteristics in virtue of emphasizing relatively larger companies found in the benchmark as well as an overweight in Utilities. It also has a bias to larger companies within the benchmark and a deeper value bias.

At the end of the period, the Fund's largest sector overweights relative to the benchmark were Information Technology and Utilities. The Fund's largest sector underweights were in Consumer Discretionary and Financials.

Portfolio and Market Outlook

The market outlook is indeed murkier than usual. The expectation of a government and a Federal Reserve willing to do whatever is necessary to help the economy and the markets will need to meet the growing limitations that an increasingly indebted nation must eventually face. However, near term benefits of stimulus money and a Federal Reserve willing to commit to near zero interest rates for an indefinite period suggest a buoyant near-term outlook.

^a Net investment income (loss) per share was computed using average shares outstanding throughout the period.

^b Total return does not take into account any of the expenses associated with an investment in variable insurance products. If total return had taken into account these expenses, performance would have been lower. Shares of a series of Guggenheim Variable Funds Trust are available only through the purchase of such products.

^c Does not include expenses of the underlying funds in which the Fund invests.

^d Net expense information reflects the expense ratios after expense waivers and reimbursements, as applicable.

^e Net expense may include expenses that are excluded from the expense limitation agreement. Excluding these expenses, the net expense ratios for the years would be:

To Our Shareholders:

The Series V (SMid Cap Value Series) is managed by a team of seasoned professionals led by James Schier, CFA, Senior Managing Director and Portfolio Manager; David Toussaint, CFA, CPA, Managing Director and Portfolio Manager; Farhan Sharaff, Senior Managing Director, Assistant Chief Investment Officer, Equities, and Portfolio Manager; Gregg Strohkorb, CFA, Director Portfolio Manager; and Burak Hurmeydan, Ph.D., Director and Portfolio Manager. In the following paragraphs, the team discusses performance of the Fund for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2020.

For the year ended December 31, 2020, Series V (SMid Cap Value Series) returned 4.30%, compared with the Russell 2500® Value Index, which returned 4.88%.

Strategy and Market Overview

Our investment approach focuses on understanding how companies make money and how easily companies can improve returns, maintain existing high levels of profitability, or benefit from change that occurs within the industries in which they operate. In today's rapidly changing environment marked by very sharp and quick, but constrained volatility, our long-term orientation and discipline are a competitive advantage. This should become especially critical when the environment of indiscriminant valuation expansion subsides, and fundamentals once again become a more dominant factor in the market.

Performance Review

Dominating the market for the period was the strong outperformance of growth versus value stocks, despite occasional signs that the situation might be ready to turn. Significant monetary and fiscal stimulus and the low-rate environment helped multiples of growth stocks expand more than those of value stocks, leading to stocks with extreme valuations to experience continued multiple expansion.

The Information Technology sector was the bright spot for the Fund for the period, aided by relative contributions from Real Estate and Energy, where the Fund's holdings—despite a negative return overall—strongly outperformed those in the benchmark. The Information Technology companies benefiting performance included those poised for the coming roll-out of 5G networks and the resultant capital expenditures needed to improve the storage and flow of ever-increasing data. Among them were MACOM Technology Solutions and Infinera Corp.

Overweighting healthcare and office REITs and underweighting retail and hotel/resort REITs was responsible for the positive relative showing in the Real Estate sector. Office REITs Alexandria Real Estate Equities, Inc., and Equity Commonwealth were the main contributors, while commercial REIT Howard Hughes Corp. and mortgage REIT Redwood Trust were the main detractors. The Fund's Energy holdings were also a relative contributor to performance, helped by the Fund's position in Range Resources, which benefited from firming in natural gas prices, and not owning many exploration and production companies in the benchmark.

Stock selection also contributed in the Health Care sector, although allocation was a detriment. Emergent Biosolutions, Inc. was a key individual contributor, benefiting from its business model in supplying the government vaccines and securing production agreements with many of the companies at the forefront in the development of COVID vaccines.

Utilities and Financials were major drags on performance, made worse by negative relative contributions from Consumer Discretionary, where the Fund's holdings—despite a positive return overall—significantly underperformed those in the benchmark. The strategy also focused on higher quality companies in the Materials and Industrials sectors as compared with the benchmark, which contained many highly levered or highly economically sensitive companies that gained during the latter months of the period. Fund laggards for the year in those sectors included U.S. Concrete, Alaska Air and Kirby, a diesel engine and marine products company, which fell on concerns of muted economic activity due to COVID.

In Utilities, the Fund was hurt by having no exposure to the better-performing renewables space, which also had higher valuations and thus did not possess value characteristics sought by the Fund. Among the electric utilities it did own, Avista Corp. and Portland General Electric were among the largest detractors, in part due to perceived lower economic activity resulting from COVID and, particularly in the case of Portland, concerns of liabilities arising from the forest fires in their service area.

The Fund's Financials holdings slightly underperformed those in the benchmark, and the impact was magnified by the sector's large weighting, the largest in both the Fund and the benchmark. Insurers were among large detractors, including Radian Group, Inc. and Alleghany Corp.

Portfolio Positioning

While this strategy is balanced relative to the benchmark, it does possess defensive characteristics in virtue of emphasizing relatively larger companies found in the benchmark as well as an overweight in Utilities.

Over the period, the Fund's largest sector overweights on average relative to the benchmark were in Information Technology and Utilities. The Fund's largest sector underweights were in Consumer Discretionary and Real Estate.

Portfolio and Market Outlook

The market outlook is indeed murkier than usual. The expectation of a government and a Federal Reserve willing to do whatever is necessary to help the economy and the markets will need to meet the growing limitations that an increasingly indebted nation must eventually face. However, near term benefits of stimulus money and a Federal Reserve willing to commit to near zero interest rates for an indefinite period suggest a buoyant near-term outlook.

^d Net expenses may include expenses that are excluded from the expense limitation agreement. Excluding these expenses, the net expense ratios for the years presented would be:

^e The amount shown for a share outstanding throughout the period does not agree with the aggregate net loss on investments for the period because of the sales and repurchases of fund shares in relation to fluctuating market value of the investments of the Fund.

To Our Shareholders:

The Series X (StylePlus™—Small Growth Series) is managed by a team of seasoned professionals, including Farhan Sharaff, Senior Managing Director and Assistant Chief Investment Officer, Equities; Qi Yan, Managing Director and Portfolio Manager; and Adam J. Bloch, Managing Director and Portfolio Manager. In the following paragraphs, the investment team discusses performance of the Fund for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2020.

For the year ended December 31, 2020, Series X (StylePlus—Small Growth Series) returned 31.82%, compared with the 34.63% return of its benchmark, the Russell 2000® Growth Index.

Investment Approach

Through a combination of actively managed individual equity, passive equity, and actively managed fixed income, the Fund seeks to exceed the total return of the Russell 2000 Growth Index. The actively managed equity and fixed income components seek to provide multiple sources of outperformance and take advantage of Guggenheim's competencies in both fixed income and systematic stock selection.

The active and passive decisions seek to add value by tactically allocating to actively managed equity through quantitative selection models when stock picking opportunities are high. During periods when Guggenheim views these opportunities to be less attractive, the Fund seeks to increase its passive exposure to equities and the allocation to fixed income securities. The prospective return during such periods is the equity index plus an "alpha" component coming from the yield of the fixed income overlay.

Performance Review

Over the period, from 15-25% of the total equity position was allocated to actively managed equity and 75-85% to passive equity. Remaining Fund assets were invested in the Guggenheim Strategy Funds, short-term fixed income investment companies advised by Guggenheim Investments, and the Guggenheim Ultra Short Duration Fund, whose objective is to seek a high level of income consistent with the preservation of capital.

The Fund underperformed the Russell 2000 Growth Index for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2020 by 281 basis points net of fees. The fixed income sleeve contributed to total return, as positions in the Guggenheim Ultra Short Duration Fund and the Guggenheim Strategy Funds, net of the investment income earned by these positions, were positive for the period. The actively managed equity sleeve detracted from performance on a relative basis. The passive equity position, maintained through swap agreements and futures contracts, had an insignificant impact on relative performance for the period.

Performance displayed represents past performance which is no guarantee of future results.

* The performance data above represents past performance that is not predictive of future results. The investment return and principal value of an investment in the Fund will fluctuate so that an investor's shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost. Returns are historical and include changes in principal and reinvested dividends and capital gains and do not reflect the effect of taxes. The Russell 2000 Growth Index is an unmanaged index and, unlike the Fund, has no management fees or operating expenses to reduce its reported return.

† Performance figures do not reflect fees and expenses associated with an investment in variable insurance products. If returns had taken into account these fees and expenses, performance would have been lower. Shares of a series of Guggenheim Variable Funds Trust are available only through the purchase of such products.

To Our Shareholders:

The Series Y (StylePlus™—Large Growth Series) is managed by a team of seasoned professionals, including Farhan Sharaff, Senior Managing Director and Assistant Chief Investment Officer, Equities; Qi Yan, Managing Director and Portfolio Manager; and Adam J. Bloch, Managing Director and Portfolio Manager. In the following paragraphs, the investment team discusses performance of the Fund for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2020.

For the year ended December 31, 2020, Series Y (StylePlus—Large Growth Series) returned 37.87%, compared with the 38.49% return of its benchmark, the Russell 1000® Growth Index.

Investment Approach

Through a combination of actively managed individual equity, passive equity, and actively managed fixed income, the Fund seeks to exceed the total return of the Russell 1000 Growth Index. The actively managed equity and fixed income components seek to provide multiple sources of outperformance and take advantage of Guggenheim's competencies in both fixed income and systematic stock selection.

The active and passive decisions seek to add value by tactically allocating to actively managed equity through quantitative selection models when stock picking opportunities are high. During periods when Guggenheim views these opportunities to be less attractive, the Fund seeks to increase its passive exposure to equities and the allocation to fixed income securities. The prospective return during such periods is the equity index plus an "alpha" component coming from the yield of the fixed income overlay.

Performance Review

Over the period, from 15-25% of the total equity position was allocated to actively managed equity and 75-85% to passive equity. Remaining Fund assets were invested in the Guggenheim Strategy Funds, short-term fixed income investment companies advised by Guggenheim Investments, and the Guggenheim Ultra Short Duration Fund, whose objective is to seek a high level of income consistent with the preservation of capital.

The Fund underperformed the Russell 1000 Growth Index for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2020 by 62 basis points net of fees. The fixed income sleeve contributed to total return, as positions in the Guggenheim Ultra Short Duration Fund and the Guggenheim Strategy Funds, net of the investment income earned by these positions, were positive for the period. The actively managed equity sleeve detracted from performance on a relative basis. The passive equity position, maintained through swap agreements and futures contracts, had an insignificant impact on relative performance for the period.

Performance displayed represents past performance which is no guarantee of future results.

* The performance data above represents past performance that is not predictive of future results. The investment return and principal value of an investment in the Fund will fluctuate so that an investor's shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost. Returns are historical and include changes in principal and reinvested dividends and capital gains and do not reflect the effect of taxes. The Russell 1000 Growth Index is an unmanaged index and, unlike the Fund, has no management fees or operating expenses to reduce its reported return.

† Performance figures do not reflect fees and expenses associated with an investment in variable insurance products. If returns had taken into account these fees and expenses, performance would have been lower. Shares of a series of Guggenheim Variable Funds Trust are available only through the purchase of such products.

Dear Shareholder:

Guggenheim Series Z (Alpha Opportunity Fund) (the "Fund") is managed by a team of seasoned professionals, including Farhan Sharaff, Senior Managing Director and Assistant Chief Investment Officer, Equities, and Portfolio Manager; Samir Sanghani, CFA, Managing Director and Portfolio Manager; and Burak Hurmeýdan, Ph.D., Director and Portfolio Manager. In the paragraphs below, the team discusses the performance of the Fund for the fiscal year period ended December 31, 2020.

For the year ended December 31, 2020, Series Z (Alpha Opportunity Series) returned 0.27%, compared with the 0.67% return of its benchmark, the ICE BofA Merrill Lynch 3-Month U.S. Treasury Bill Index.

Investment Approach

The Fund is managed as an opportunistic long/short strategy, looking to invest in areas of the market where stock prices look priced at a discount vis-à-vis their company fundamentals and risks, while shorting areas of the market that look overpriced or are not compensating for risks appropriately. The strategy philosophy is founded in part on the academic view that markets are primarily efficient – investors require higher compensation for characteristics that increase the riskiness of future cash flows (such as being very small, or having lots of economic sensitivity in the business). Academics have noted that companies exhibiting certain risk factors have on average outperformed safer firms as the 'risk premium' leads to better performance. However, unlike most academic research in this field, the Fund's managers do not believe that those historic risk premia are constant. We believe that investors' perceptions of what is risky can change a lot over time. They can harbor new fears about avoiding the latest economic crisis, or alternatively become over-excited about some new hot technology and completely forget about the risks involved.

The Fund's strategy is to quantitatively compute what forward looking compensation level is embedded in a large universe of stocks – and ascertain what broad risk factors are being overvalued or undervalued. The Fund's portfolio is adaptive to changing market dynamics and aims to buy a highly diversified set of names with undervalued risk factors, and short a highly diversified set of stocks with overvalued characteristics.

The Fund will ordinarily hold simultaneous long and short positions in equity securities or securities markets that provide exposure up to a level equal to 150% of the Fund's net assets for both the long and short positions. The Fund intends to maintain a low overall net exposure (the difference between the notional value of long positions and the notional value of short positions), typically varying between 50% net long and 30% net short, in order to maintain low correlation to traditional equity markets and lower-than-market volatility, and seek to provide consistent absolute return. The overall net exposure will change as market opportunities change, and may, based on the Fund's view of current market conditions, be outside this range.

Derivatives in the Fund are used to take short positions as well as long exposure above 100% of NAV (that is, to take leverage).

Performance Review

The Fund's flat return for the year belies the incredible historic volatility endured in 2020. In what seems like an eon ago, the year started with strong returns in assets of all kinds as several political and macro uncertainties had begun to clear up. The U.S. Federal Reserve (the "Fed") was cutting short-term rates in a "midcycle adjustment" policy. A "Phase 1" trade deal was signed with China that deescalated the trade war, and the UK helped consolidate power for the Prime Minister which clarified the Brexit path forward.

The Coronavirus Pandemic halted global economies in quick fashion during the first quarter, and as a result market returns cratered in the worst showing since the 2008 Global Financial Crisis. Industries most impacted by global stay-at-home orders were hit the hardest, including airlines, hotels, cruise lines, and brick-and-mortar apparel retailers. Within the energy sector, on top of a big drop in oil demand due to shutdowns, a price war broke out between Russia and Saudi Arabia when they could not agree on the extent of OPEC supply cuts. This led to a collapse in oil prices and even a short stint of negative pricing in the oil futures market. Banks also suffered as investors foresaw big write-offs on loan books due to companies and individuals that were most impacted.

Congress took unusually quick action, passing the CARES act, which provided direct payment to certain U.S. citizens, funding for extended unemployment, and small business relief to prevent layoffs. The Fed was also busy announcing an emergency rate cut with a zero lower bound, and massive quantitative easing and emergency lending facilities. These quick actions helped stabilize the markets and provided a backstop to liquidity and credit flow, massively shrinking the “risk premium” across all sorts of fixed income asset classes. That low risk premium spilled into the stock market as investors were ready to invest at ever higher valuations driven by low rates, low credit spreads, the promise of further stimulus, and positive news on vaccines.

The Presidential and Congressional election results led to a manic bullish environment to end the year. Despite the Democratic party win, typically considered the more unfriendly party for businesses, this year's removal of erratic and unorthodox leadership seemed to stoke a collective sigh of relief. Further, a strong emphasis on Covid control and heavy stimulus on the Democratic platform fed the rally in many of the remaining beaten down industries most impacted by the pandemic. When all was said and done, the broad market (S&P 500 index) surged 18.4%. And even the riskiest corner of the market, small cap value names, achieved a positive benchmark return.

At period end, the Fund held about 122% of assets in long securities, and 77% short, for a net-dollar exposure of 45%. The net exposure averaged 40% during the year (ranging between a low of 30% at the start of the calendar year and a high of 49% in the months right before the election). While the positive net market exposure resulted in contribution to returns simply from the market exposure, the Fund is generally less exposed to the broad market returns than most long/short equity managers. The realized net beta (sensitivity of daily Fund returns to the S&P 500 index) averaged around 0.20 during the year. The beta is lower than the net dollar exposure because the shorts selected exhibit higher beta versus the market than the more-defensive long positions.

Fund long positions (on a standalone unlevered basis) averaged a return of 4.7% for the year, while short positions returned 6.8% on a stand-alone basis. Short positions outperformed the long names—opposite of our ideal outcome. However, the Fund ended with a slight positive return for the year since the total weight invested in longs was higher.

Digging deeper into the attribution for the year, the Fund's net long bias added about 8.3% of attributable return. Sector positioning had a positive impact of about 7.3%, with key contributors being a net short in Real Estate as well as a large net long position in Healthcare. The Fund's fundamental style tilts did poorly, detracting by about 5.5%. The Fund's tilts towards value and away from high-growth companies both underperformed; however, a net long position in higher-profitable companies benefitted from the flight-to-quality trade and offset the drag from the value bias.

Stock selection—after controlling for the style and sector tilts described above—was detracted by 8.0%. The selection within REITs was the largest example. While our factor positioning correctly led to a net negative exposure to the sector with the ‘right’ fundamental style tilts, our short names did not all participate in the sector returns evenly. A number of ‘Covid-resistant’ real estate businesses dramatically outperformed during the period (data centers, warehouses, mobile home parks, biotech offices, etc). The selection effect in that sector alone wiped out about 5% of the otherwise positive factor attribution in the sector.

The portfolio managers are keeping a close eye on the ‘Covid risk’ inherent in certain narrow industries that most directly suffer or benefit from the pandemic. This is what we call a transient factor, a little more difficult for traditional quant techniques to identify due to the uniqueness of the risk factor and lack of historic precedent. Our goal is to at least understand the risks of both shutdowns and reopenings, and make sure the portfolio is not inadvertently or overly exposed to this unpredictable risk. This approach helped the Fund considerably at the outset of the pandemic crash. During the couple of weeks when markets were moving 5% plus in a day, a number of our shorts in the most vulnerable industries had massive down moves. As the extent of the shutdowns became clear and the Fed and Congress began to react, we quickly closed many of those profitable shorts to avoid the volatility risk, with concurrent sells on the long side of defensive name winners to maintain the low net exposure. That reaction—mainly driven from a risk management perspective—helped avoid losses during the strong reversal rally in April and avoid the fate of treating that price action as any other typical momentum.

Positioning

The Fund maintains its style bias towards cheaper valuation names, while maintaining a quality bias including higher free cash flow names and stronger profitability bias. However, due to the quite-expensive valuations afforded high growth names, we remain net short growth.

From an industry perspective, the Fund remains net long several defensive sectors with relatively well-priced stocks, including Healthcare, Staples, and Utilities. After being short the Financials sector for a few years, the Fund has closed that out and now remains close to neutral in that sector. The largest net short exposures currently are Materials and Real Estate.

Looking forward, we are starting to see some positive indicators for our valuation disciplined approach. The Democratic presidential and Congressional victories will certainly lead to some stock market positives (bigger stimulus, more traditional international dealings) as well as some corporate negatives (higher corporate taxes, more regulations on certain industries). The interest rate markets have started pricing this in with higher yields and a steeper yield curve. Underneath the equity market surface, the recent political and medical developments have spurred a long-awaited recovery in 'Value Stocks'. These are generally the companies that need a robust economic environment to deliver earnings increases. Meanwhile, strong secular growth companies within each industry have had solid fundamentals in recent years, but their prices have already incorporated much of the longer-term growth. If long-term rates rise, the discounting of far-off profitability will hurt them more, as it helped that group as rates fell. The Fund's style positioning would likely benefit from a steady return to economic growth, higher interest rates, and some of the extreme valuation disparities starting to converge.

^a Net investment income (loss) per share was computed using average shares outstanding throughout the period.

^b Total return does not take into account any of the expenses associated with an investment in variable insurance products. If total return had taken into account these expenses, performance would have been lower. Shares of a series of Guggenheim Variable Funds Trust are available only through the purchase of such products.

^c Net expense information reflects the expense ratios after expense waivers and reimbursements, as applicable.

^d Net expenses may include expenses that are excluded from the expense limitation agreement. Excluding these expenses, the net expense ratios for the years presented would be:

12/31/20	12/31/19	12/31/18	12/31/17	12/31/16
2.00%	2.00%	1.99%	2.13%	2.35%

^e The portion of the ratios of net expenses to average net assets attributable to recoupments of prior fee reductions or expense reimbursements for the years presented was as follows:

12/31/20	12/31/19	12/31/18	12/31/17	12/31/16

Significant Accounting Policies

The Funds operate as investment companies and, accordingly, follow the investment company accounting and reporting guidance of the Financial Accounting Standards Board (“FASB”) Accounting Standards Codification Topic 946 Financial Services – Investment Companies.

The following significant accounting policies are in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles (“U.S. GAAP”) and are consistently followed by the Trust. This requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amount of assets and liabilities, contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements, and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from these estimates. All time references are based on Eastern Time.

The net asset value per share (“NAV”) of a fund is calculated by dividing the market value of a fund’s securities and other assets, less all liabilities, by the number of outstanding shares of that fund.

(a) Valuation of Investments

The Board of Trustees of the Funds (the “Board”) has adopted policies and procedures for the valuation of the Funds’ investments (the “Valuation Procedures”). Pursuant to the Valuation Procedures, the Board has delegated to a valuation committee, consisting of representatives from Guggenheim’s investment management, fund administration, legal and compliance departments (the “Valuation Committee”), the day-to-day responsibility for implementing the Valuation Procedures, including, under most circumstances, the responsibility for determining the fair value of the Funds’ securities and/or other assets.

Valuations of the Funds’ securities and other assets are supplied primarily by pricing services appointed pursuant to the processes set forth in the Valuation Procedures. The Valuation Committee convenes monthly, or more frequently as needed, to review the valuation of all assets which have been fair valued for reasonableness. The Funds’ officers, through the Valuation Committee and consistent with the monitoring and review responsibilities set forth in the Valuation Procedures, regularly review procedures used and valuations provided by the pricing services.

If the pricing service cannot or does not provide a valuation for a particular investment or such valuation is deemed unreliable, such investment is fair valued by the Valuation Committee.

Equity securities listed or traded on a recognized U.S. securities exchange or the National Association of Securities Dealers Automated Quotations (“NASDAQ”) National Market System shall generally be valued on the basis of the last sale price on the primary U.S. exchange or market on which the security is listed or traded; provided, however, that securities listed on NASDAQ will be valued at the NASDAQ Official Closing Price, which may not necessarily represent the last sale price. If there is no sale on the valuation date, exchange-traded U.S. equity securities will be valued on the basis of the last bid price.

Generally, trading in foreign securities markets is substantially completed each day at various times prior to the close of the New York Stock Exchange (“NYSE”). The values of foreign securities are determined as of the close of such foreign markets or the close of the NYSE, if earlier. All investments quoted in foreign currencies are valued in U.S. dollars on the basis of the foreign currency exchange rates prevailing at the close of U.S. business at 4:00 p.m. Investments in foreign securities may involve risks not present in domestic investments. The Valuation Committee will determine the current value of such foreign securities by taking into consideration certain factors which may include those discussed above, as well as the following factors, among others: the value of the securities traded on other foreign markets, ADR trading, closed-end fund trading, foreign currency exchange activity, and the trading prices of financial products that are tied to foreign securities. In addition, under the Valuation Procedures, the Valuation Committee and Guggenheim Funds Investment Advisors, LLC ("GFIA" or the "Adviser") are authorized to use prices and other information supplied by a third party pricing vendor in valuing foreign securities.

Open-end investment companies are valued at their NAV as of the close of business, on the valuation date. Exchange-traded funds and closed-end investment companies are valued at the last quoted sale price.

U.S. Government securities are valued by independent pricing services, the last traded fill price, or at the reported bid price at the close of business.

Repurchase agreements are generally valued at amortized cost, provided such amounts approximate market value.

Debt securities with a maturity of greater than 60 days at acquisition are valued at prices that reflect broker-dealer supplied valuations or are obtained from independent pricing services, which may consider the trade activity, treasury spreads, yields or price of bonds of comparable quality, coupon, maturity, and type, as well as prices quoted by dealers who make markets in such securities. Short-term debt securities with a maturity of 60 days or less at acquisition are valued at amortized cost, provided such amount approximates market value.

Typically, loans are valued using information provided by an independent third party pricing service that uses broker quotes, among other inputs. If the pricing service cannot or does not provide a valuation for a particular loan or such valuation is deemed unreliable, such investment is valued based on a quote from a broker-dealer or is fair valued by the Valuation Committee.

Exchange-traded options are valued at the mean of the bid and ask prices on the principal exchange on which they are traded. Over-the-counter ("OTC") options are valued using a price provided by a pricing service.

The value of futures contracts is accounted for using the unrealized appreciation or depreciation on the contracts that is determined by marking the contracts to their current realized settlement prices. Financial futures contracts are valued at the 4:00 p.m. price on the valuation date. In the event that the exchange for a specific futures contract closes earlier than 4:00 p.m., the futures contract is valued at the official settlement price of the exchange. However, the underlying securities from which the futures contract value is derived are monitored until 4:00 p.m. to determine if fair valuation would provide a more accurate valuation.

The value of interest rate swap agreements entered into by a fund is accounted for using the unrealized appreciation or depreciation on the agreements that is determined using the previous day's Chicago Mercantile Exchange close price, adjusted for the current day's spreads.

The values of other swap agreements entered into by a fund are accounted for using the unrealized appreciation or depreciation on the agreements that are determined by marking the agreements to the last quoted value of the index or other underlying position that the swaps pertain to at the close of the NYSE.

Forward foreign currency exchange contracts are valued daily based on the applicable exchange rate of the underlying currency.

Investments for which market quotations are not readily available are fair-valued as determined in good faith by GI, subject to review and approval by the Valuation Committee, pursuant to methods established or ratified by the Board. Valuations in accordance with these methods are intended to reflect each security's (or asset's or liability's) "fair value". Each such determination is based on a consideration of all relevant factors, which are likely to vary from one pricing context to another. Examples of such factors may include, but are not limited to market prices; sale prices; broker quotes; and models which derive prices based on inputs such as prices of securities with comparable maturities and characteristics, or based on inputs such as anticipated cash flows or collateral, spread over U.S. Treasury securities, and other information analysis. In connection with futures contracts and other derivative investments, such factors may include obtaining information as to how (a) these contracts and other derivative investments trade in the futures or other derivative markets, respectively, and (b) the securities underlying these contracts and other derivative investments trade in the cash market.

(b) U.S. Government and Agency Obligations

Certain U.S. Government and Agency Obligations are traded on a discount basis; the interest rates shown on the Schedules of Investments reflect the effective rates paid at the time of purchase by the Funds. Other securities bear interest at the rates shown, payable at fixed dates through maturity.

(c) Senior Floating Rate Interests and Loan Investments

Senior floating rate interests in which the Trust invests generally pay interest rates which are periodically adjusted by reference to a base short-term floating rate, plus a premium. These base lending rates are generally (i) the lending rate offered by one or more major European banks, such as the one-month or three-month London Inter-Bank Offered Rate ("LIBOR"), (ii) the prime rate offered by one or more major United States banks, or (iii) the bank's certificate of deposit rate. Senior floating rate interests often require prepayments from excess cash flows or permit the borrower to repay at its election. The rate at which the borrower repays cannot be predicted with accuracy. As a result, the actual remaining maturity may be substantially less than the stated maturities disclosed in the Funds' Schedules of Investments.

The Funds invest in loans and other similar debt obligations ("obligations"). A portion of the Funds' investments in these obligations is sometimes referred to as "covenant lite" loans or obligations ("covenant lite obligations"), which are obligations that lack covenants or possess fewer or less restrictive covenants or constraints on borrowers than certain other types of obligations. The Funds may also obtain exposure to covenant lite obligations through investment in securitization vehicles and other structured products. In recent market conditions, many new or reissued obligations have not featured traditional covenants, which are intended to protect lenders and investors by (i) imposing certain restrictions or other limitations on a borrower's operations or assets or (ii) providing certain rights to lenders. The Funds may have fewer rights with respect to covenant lite obligations, including fewer protections against the possibility of default and fewer remedies in the event of default. As a result, investments in (or exposure to) covenant lite obligations are subject to more risk than investments in (or exposure to) certain other types of obligations. The Funds are subject to other risks associated with investments in (or exposure to) obligations, including that obligations may not be considered "securities" and, as a result, the Funds may not be entitled to rely on the anti-fraud protections under the federal securities laws and instead may have to resort to state law and direct claims.

(d) Interest on When-Issued Securities

The Funds may purchase and sell interests in securities on a when-issued and delayed delivery basis, with payment and delivery scheduled for a future date. No income accrues to the Funds on such interests or securities in connection with such transactions prior to the date the Funds actually take delivery of such interests or securities. These transactions are subject to market fluctuations and are subject to the risk that the value at delivery may be more or less than the trade date purchase price. Although the Funds will generally purchase these securities with the intention of acquiring such securities, they may sell such securities before the settlement date.

(e) Options

Upon the purchase of an option, the premium paid is recorded as an investment, the value of which is marked-to-market daily. If a purchased option expires, the Fund realizes a loss in the amount of the cost of the option. When the Fund enters into a closing sale transaction, it realizes a gain or loss depending on whether the proceeds from the closing sale transaction are greater or less than the cost of the option. If the Fund exercises a put option, it realizes a gain or loss from the sale of the underlying security and the proceeds from such sale will be decreased by the premium originally paid. When the Fund exercises a call option, the cost of the security purchased by the Fund upon exercise increases by the premium originally paid.

When the Fund writes (sells) an option, an amount equal to the premium received is entered in that Fund's accounting records as an asset and equivalent liability. The amount of the liability is subsequently marked-to-market to reflect the current value of the option written. When a written option expires, or if the Fund enters into a closing purchase transaction, it realizes a gain (or loss if the cost of a closing purchase transaction exceeds the premium received when the option was sold).

(f) Futures Contracts

Upon entering into a futures contract, a Fund deposits and maintains as collateral such initial margin as required by the exchange on which the transaction is affected. Pursuant to the contract, the Fund agrees to receive from or pay to the broker an amount of cash equal to the daily fluctuation in value of the contract. Such receipts or payments are known as variation margin and are recorded by the Fund as unrealized appreciation or depreciation. When the contract is closed, the Fund records a realized gain or loss equal to the difference between the value of the contract at the time it was opened and the value at the time it was closed.

(g) Swap Agreements

Swap agreements are marked-to-market daily and the change, if any, is recorded as unrealized appreciation or depreciation. Payments received or made as a result of an agreement or termination of an agreement are recognized as realized gains or losses.

Upon entering into certain centrally-cleared swap transactions, a Fund is required to deposit with its clearing broker an amount of cash or securities as an initial margin. Subsequent variation margin receipts or payments are received or made by the Fund depending on fluctuations in the fair value of the reference entity and are recorded by the Fund as unrealized appreciation or depreciation. When the contract is closed, the Fund records a realized gain or loss equal to the difference between the value of the contract at the time it was opened and the value at the time it was closed.

Upfront payments received or made by a Fund on credit default swap agreements and interest rate swap agreements are amortized over the expected life of the agreement. Periodic payments received or paid by a Fund are recorded as realized gains or losses. Payments received or made as a result of a credit event or termination of the contract are recognized, net of a proportional amount of the upfront payment, as realized gains or losses.

(h) Forward Foreign Currency Exchange Contracts

The change in value of a forward foreign currency exchange contract is recorded as unrealized appreciation or depreciation until the contract is closed. When the contract is closed, the Funds record a realized gain or loss equal to the difference between the value at the time the contract was opened and the value at the time it was closed.

(i) Currency Translations

The accounting records of the Funds are maintained in U.S. dollars. All assets and liabilities initially expressed in foreign currencies are converted into U.S. dollars at prevailing exchange rates. Purchases and sales of investment securities, dividend and interest income, and certain expenses are translated at the rates of exchange prevailing on the respective dates of such transactions. Changes in the relationship of these foreign currencies to the U.S. dollar can significantly affect the value of the investments and earnings of the Funds. Foreign investments may also subject the Funds to foreign government exchange restrictions, expropriation, taxation, or other political, social or economic developments, all of which could affect the market and/or credit risk of the investments.

The Funds do not isolate that portion of the results of operations resulting from changes in the foreign exchange rates on investments from the fluctuations arising from changes in the market prices of securities held. Such fluctuations are included with the net realized gain or loss and unrealized appreciation or depreciation on investments.

Reported net realized foreign exchange gains and losses arise from sales of foreign currencies and currency gains or losses realized between the trade and settlement dates on investment transactions. Net unrealized appreciation and depreciation arise from changes in the fair values of assets and liabilities other than investments in securities at the fiscal year end, resulting from changes in exchange rates.

(j) Foreign Taxes

The Funds may be subject to foreign taxes (a portion of which may be reclaimable) on income, stock dividends, capital gains on investments or certain foreign currency transactions. All foreign taxes are recorded in accordance with the applicable foreign tax regulations and rates that exist in the foreign jurisdictions in which the Funds invest. These foreign taxes, if any, are paid by the Funds and reflected in their Statements of Operations as follows: foreign taxes withheld at source are presented as a reduction of income and foreign taxes on capital gains from sales of investments are included with the net realized gain (loss) on investments. Foreign taxes payable or deferred as of December 31, 2020, if any, are disclosed in the Funds' Statements of Assets and Liabilities.

(k) Security Transactions

Security transactions are recorded on the trade date for financial reporting purposes. Realized gains and losses from securities transactions are recorded using the identified cost basis. Proceeds from lawsuits related to investment holdings are recorded as a reduction to cost if the securities are still held and as realized gains if no longer held in the respective Fund. Dividend income is recorded on the ex-dividend date, net of applicable taxes withheld by foreign countries, if any. Taxable non-cash dividends are recorded as dividend income. Interest income, including amortization of premiums and accretion of discounts, is accrued on a daily basis. Interest income also includes paydown gains and losses on mortgage-backed and asset-backed securities and senior and subordinated loans. Amendment fees are earned as compensation for evaluating and accepting changes to the original loan agreement and are recognized when received. Dividend income from Real Estate Investment Trusts ("REITs") is recorded based on the income included in the distributions received from the REIT investments using published REIT classifications, including some management estimates when actual amounts are not available. Distributions received in excess of this estimated amount are recorded as a reduction of the cost of investments or reclassified to realized gains. The actual amounts of income, return of capital, and realized gains are only determined by each REIT after its fiscal year-end, and may differ from the estimated amounts.

Income from residual collateralized loan obligations is recognized using the effective interest method. At the time of purchase, management estimates the future expected cash flows and determines the effective yield and estimated maturity date based on the estimated cash flows. Subsequent to the purchase, the estimated cash flows are updated periodically and a revised yield is calculated prospectively.

Certain Funds may receive other income from investments in senior loan interests including amendment fees, consent fees and commitment fees. For funded loans, these fees are recorded as income when received by the Funds and included in interest income on the Statements of Operations. For unfunded loans, commitment fees are included in realized gain on investments on the Statement of Operations at the end of the commitment period.

(l) Distributions

Distributions of net investment income and net realized gains, if any, are declared and paid at least annually. Normally, all distributions of a Fund will automatically be reinvested without charge in additional shares of the same Fund. Distributions are recorded on the ex-dividend date and are determined in accordance with U.S. federal income tax regulations which may differ from U.S. GAAP.

(m) Expenses

Expenses directly attributable to a Fund are charged directly to the Fund. Other expenses common to various funds within the fund complex are generally allocated amongst such funds on the basis of average net assets.

(n) Earnings Credits

Under the fee arrangement with the custodian, the Funds may earn credits based on overnight custody cash balances. These credits are utilized to reduce related custodial expenses. The custodian fees disclosed in the Statements of Operations are before the reduction in expense from the related earnings credits, if any. Earnings credits for the year ended December 31, 2020, are disclosed in the Statements of Operations.

(o) Cash

The Funds may leave cash overnight in their cash account with the custodian. Periodically, a Fund may have cash due to the custodian bank as an overdraft balance. A fee is incurred on this overdraft, calculated by multiplying the overdraft by a rate based on the federal funds rate, which was 0.09% at December 31, 2020.

(p) Indemnifications

Under the Funds' organizational documents, the Trustees and Officers are indemnified against certain liabilities arising out of the performance of their duties to the Trust. In addition, throughout the normal course of business, the Funds enter into contracts that contain a variety of representations and warranties which provide general indemnifications. The Funds' maximum exposure under these arrangements is unknown, as this would involve future claims that may be made against the Funds and/or their affiliates that have not yet occurred. However, based on experience, the Funds expect the risk of loss to be remote.

Note 2 – Derivatives

As part of their investment strategy, the Funds utilize a variety of derivative instruments. These investments involve, to varying degrees, elements of market risk and risks in excess of amounts recognized on the Statements of Assets and Liabilities. Valuation and accounting treatment of these instruments can be found under Significant Accounting Policies in Note 1 of these Notes to Financial Statements.

Derivatives are instruments whose values depend on, or are derived from, in whole or in part, the value of one or more other assets, such as securities, currencies, commodities or indices. Derivative instruments may be used to increase investment flexibility (including to maintain cash reserves while maintaining exposure to certain other assets), for risk management (hedging) purposes, to facilitate trading, to reduce transaction costs and to pursue higher investment returns. Derivative instruments may also be used to mitigate certain investment risks, such as foreign currency exchange rate risk, interest rate risk and credit risk. U.S. GAAP requires disclosures to enable investors to better understand how and why a Fund uses derivative instruments, how these derivative instruments are accounted for and their effects on the Fund's financial position and results of operations.

The Funds may utilize derivatives for the following purposes:

Duration: the use of an instrument to manage the interest rate risk of a portfolio.

Hedge: an investment made in order to reduce the risk of adverse price movements in a security, by taking an offsetting position to protect against broad market moves.

Income: the use of any instrument that distributes cash flows typically based upon some rate of interest.

Index Exposure: the use of an instrument to obtain exposure to a listed or other type of index.

Leverage: gaining total exposure to equities or other assets on the long and short sides at greater than 100% of invested capital.

Speculation: the use of an instrument to express macro-economic and other investment views.

For any Fund whose investment strategy consistently involves applying leverage, the value of the Fund's shares will tend to increase or decrease more than the value of any increase or decrease in the underlying index or other asset. In addition, because an investment in derivative instruments generally requires a small investment relative to the amount of investment exposure assumed, an opportunity for increased net income is created; but, at the same time, leverage risk will increase. The Fund's use of leverage, through borrowings or instruments such as derivatives, may cause the Fund to be more volatile and riskier than if they had not been leveraged.

Options Purchased and Written

A call option on a security gives the purchaser of the option the right to buy, and the writer of a call option the obligation to sell, the underlying security. The purchaser of a put option has the right to sell, and the writer of the put option the obligation to buy, the underlying security at any time during the option period. The risk associated with purchasing options is limited to the premium originally paid.

The following table represents the Funds' use and volume of call/put options purchased on a monthly basis:

Fund	Use	Average Notional Amount
		Call	Put
Series E (Total Return Bond Series)	Hedge	$ 136,000,000	$ —

Futures Contracts

A futures contract is an agreement to purchase (long) or sell (short) an agreed amount of securities or other instruments at a set price for delivery at a future date. There are significant risks associated with a Fund's use of futures contracts, including (i) there may be an imperfect or no correlation between the changes in market value of the underlying asset and the prices of futures contracts; (ii) there may not be a liquid secondary market for a futures contract; (iii) trading restrictions or limitations may be imposed by an exchange; and (iv) government regulations may restrict trading in futures contracts. When investing in futures, there is minimal counterparty credit risk to a Fund because futures are exchange-traded and the exchange's clearinghouse, as counterparty to all exchange-traded futures, guarantees against default. Cash deposits are shown as segregated cash with broker on the Statements of Assets and Liabilities; securities held as collateral are noted on the Schedules of Investments.

The following table represents the Funds' use and volume of futures on a monthly basis:

Fund	Use	Average Notional Amount
		Long	Short
Series A (StylePlus—Large Core Series)	Index exposure	$ 6,503,971	$ —
Series D (World Equity Income Series)	Hedge	—	3,323,970
Series E (Total Return Bond Series)	Duration, Hedge, Income	—	162,003
Series J (StylePlus—Mid Growth Series)	Index exposure	5,513,494	—

Series X (StylePlus—Small Growth Series)	Index exposure	1,052,686	—
Series Y (StylePlus—Large Growth Series)	Index exposure	1,912,907	—

Swap Agreements

A swap is an agreement that obligates two parties to exchange a series of cash flows at specified intervals based upon or calculated by reference to changes in specified prices or rates for a specified amount of an underlying asset. When utilizing OTC swaps, a fund bears the risk of loss of the amount expected to be received under a swap agreement in the event of the default or bankruptcy of a swap agreement counterparty or if the underlying asset declines in value. Certain standardized swaps are subject to mandatory central clearing and are executed on a multi-lateral or other trade facility platform, such as a registered exchange. There is limited counterparty credit risk with respect to centrally-cleared swaps as the transaction is facilitated through a central clearinghouse, much like exchange-traded futures contracts. For a fund utilizing centrally-cleared swaps, the exchange bears the risk of loss resulting from a counterparty not being able to pay. There is no guarantee that a fund or an underlying fund could eliminate its exposure under an outstanding swap agreement by entering into an offsetting swap agreement with the same or another party.

Total return and custom basket swaps involve commitments where single or multiple cash flows are exchanged based on the price of an underlying reference asset (such as an index or custom basket of securities) for a fixed or variable interest rate. Total return and custom basket swaps will usually be computed based on the current value of the reference asset as of the close of regular trading on the NYSE or other exchange, with the swap value being adjusted to include dividends accrued, financing charges and/or interest associated with the swap agreement. When utilizing total return or custom basket swaps, a fund bears the risk of loss of the amount expected to be received under a swap agreement in the event of the default or bankruptcy of a swap agreement counterparty or if the underlying reference asset declines in value.

The following table represents the Funds' use and volume of total return swaps on a monthly basis:

Fund	Use	Average Notional Amount
		Long	Short
Series A (StylePlus—Large Core Series)	Index exposure	$ 163,165,567	$ —
Series E (Total Return Bond Series)	Index exposure, Income	321,979	214,543
Series J (StylePlus—Mid Growth Series)	Index exposure	126,272,386	—
Series X (StylePlus—Small Growth Series)	Index exposure	24,463,428	—
Series Y (StylePlus—Large Growth Series)	Index exposure	33,994,369	—

The following table represents the Funds' use and volume of custom basket swaps on a monthly basis:

Fund	Use	Average Notional Amount
		Long	Short
Series Z (Alpha Opportunity Series)	Hedge, Leverage	$ 917,590	$ 3,942,624

Interest rate swaps involve the exchange by the Funds with another party for their respective commitment to pay or receive a fixed or variable interest rate on a notional amount of principal. Interest rate swaps are generally centrally-cleared, but central clearing does not make interest rate swap transactions risk free.

The following table represents the Funds' use and volume of interest rate swaps on a monthly basis:

Fund	Use	Average Notional Amount
		Pay Floating Rate	Receive Floating Rate
Series E (Total Return Bond Series)	Duration, Hedge	$ 9,582,750	$ 1,366,667

Credit default swaps are instruments which allow for the full or partial transfer of third party credit risk, with respect to a particular entity or entities, from one counterparty to the other. A fund enters into credit default swaps as a "seller" or "buyer" of protection primarily to gain or reduce exposure to the investment grade and/or high yield bond market. A seller of credit default swaps is selling credit protection or assuming credit risk with respect to the underlying entity or entities. The buyer in a credit default swap is obligated to pay the seller a periodic stream of payments over the term of the contract provided that no event of default on an underlying reference obligation has occurred. If a credit event occurs, as defined under the terms of the swap agreement, the seller will either (i) pay to the buyer of protection an amount equal to the notional amount of the swap and take delivery of the referenced obligation or underlying securities comprising the referenced index or (ii) pay a net settlement amount in the form of cash or securities equal to the notional amount of the swap less the recovery value of the referenced obligation or underlying securities comprising the referenced index. The notional amount reflects the maximum potential amount the seller of credit protection could be required to pay to the buyer if a credit event occurs. The seller of protection receives periodic premium payments from the buyer and may also receive or pay an upfront premium adjustment to the stated periodic payments. In the event a credit default occurs on a credit default swap referencing an index, a factor adjustment will take place and the buyer of protection will receive a payment reflecting the par less the default recovery rate of the defaulted index component based on its weighting in the index. If no default occurs, the counterparty will pay the stream of payments and have no further obligations to the fund selling the credit protection. For a fund utilizing centrally cleared credit default swaps, the exchange bears the risk of loss resulting from a counterparty not being able to pay. For OTC credit default swaps, a fund bears the risk of loss of the amount expected to be received under a swap agreement in the event of the default or bankruptcy of a swap agreement counterparty, or in the case of a credit default swap in which a fund is selling credit protection, the default of a third party issuer.

The quoted market prices and resulting market values for credit default swap agreements on securities and credit indices serve as an indicator of the current status of the payment/performance risk and represent the likelihood of an expected liability (or profit) for the credit derivative had the notional amount of the swap agreement been closed/sold as of the period end. Increasing market values, in absolute terms when compared to the notional amount of the swap, represent a deterioration of the referenced entity's credit soundness and a greater likelihood or risk of default or other credit event occurring as defined under the terms of the agreement.

The following table represents the Funds' use and volume of credit default swaps on a monthly basis:

Fund	Use	Average Notional Amount
		Protection Sold	Protection Purchased
Series E (Total Return Bond Series)	Hedge, Index exposure	$ 8,298,333	$ 4,005,000
Series P (High Yield Series)	Index exposure	2,053,333	—

Forward Foreign Currency Exchange Contracts

A forward foreign currency exchange contract is an agreement between two parties to exchange two designated currencies at a specific time in the future. Certain types of contracts may be cash settled, in an amount equal to the change in exchange rates during the term of the contract. The contracts can be used to hedge or manage exposure to foreign currency risks with portfolio investments or to gain exposure to foreign currencies.

The market value of a forward foreign currency exchange contract changes with fluctuations in foreign currency exchange rates. Furthermore, the Funds may be exposed to risk if the counterparties cannot meet the contract terms or if the currency value changes unfavorably as compared to the U.S. dollar.

The following table represents the Funds' use and volume of forward foreign currency exchange contracts on a monthly basis:

Fund	Use	Average Value
		Purchased	Sold
Series E (Total Return Bond Series)	Hedge, Income	$ 7,824,981	$ 9,723,862

In conjunction with the use of derivative instruments, the Funds are required to maintain collateral in various forms. Depending on the financial instrument utilized and the broker involved, the Funds use margin deposits at the broker, cash and/or securities segregated at the custodian bank, discount notes or repurchase agreements allocated to the Funds as collateral.

Foreign Investments

There are several risks associated with exposure to foreign currencies, foreign issuers and emerging markets. A fund's indirect and direct exposure to foreign currencies subjects the Fund to the risk that those currencies will decline in value relative to the U.S. dollar, or in the case of short positions, that the U.S. dollar will decline in value relative to the currency being hedged. Currency rates in foreign countries may fluctuate significantly over short periods of time for a number of reasons, including changes in interest rates and the imposition of currency controls or other political developments in the U.S. or abroad. In addition, the Funds may incur transaction costs in connection with conversions between various currencies. The Funds may, but is not obligated to, engage in currency hedging transactions, which generally involve buying currency forward, options or futures contracts. However, not all currency risks may be effectively hedged, and in some cases the costs of hedging techniques may outweigh expected benefits. In such instances, the value of securities denominated in foreign currencies can change significantly when foreign currencies strengthen or weaken relative to the U.S. dollar.

The Funds may invest in securities of foreign companies directly, or in financial instruments, such as ADRs and exchange-traded funds, which are indirectly linked to the performance of foreign issuers. Foreign markets can be more volatile than the U.S. market due to increased risks of adverse issuer, political, regulatory, market, or economic developments and can perform differently from the U.S. market. Investing in securities of foreign companies directly, or in financial instruments that are indirectly linked to the performance of foreign issuers, may involve risks not typically associated with investing in U.S. issuers. The value of securities denominated in foreign currencies, and of dividends from such securities, can change significantly when foreign currencies strengthen or weaken relative to the U.S. dollar. Foreign securities markets generally have less trading volume and less liquidity than U.S. markets, and prices in some foreign markets may fluctuate more than those of securities traded on U.S. markets. Many foreign countries lack accounting and disclosure standards comparable to those that apply to U.S. companies, and it may be more difficult to obtain reliable information regarding a foreign issuer's financial condition and operations. Transaction costs and costs associated with custody services are generally higher for foreign securities than they are for U.S. securities. Some foreign governments levy withholding taxes against dividend and interest income. Although in some countries portions of these taxes are recoverable, the non-recovered portion will reduce the income received by the Funds.

The Trust has established counterparty credit guidelines and enters into transactions only with financial institutions of investment grade or better. The Trust monitors the counterparty credit risk.

Note 3 – Offsetting

In the normal course of business, the Funds enter into transactions subject to enforceable master netting arrangements or other similar arrangements. Generally, the right to offset in those agreements allows the Funds to counteract the exposure to a specific counterparty with collateral received from or delivered to that counterparty based on the terms of the arrangements. These arrangements provide for the right to liquidate upon the occurrence of an event of default, credit event upon merger or additional termination event.

In order to better define their contractual rights and to secure rights that will help the Funds mitigate their counterparty risk, the Funds may enter into an International Swaps and Derivatives Association, Inc. Master Agreement ("ISDA Master Agreement") or similar agreement with their derivative contract counterparties. An ISDA Master Agreement is a bilateral agreement between a fund and a counterparty that governs OTC derivatives, including foreign exchange contracts, and typically contains, among other things, collateral posting terms and netting provisions in the event of a default and/or termination event. The provisions of the ISDA Master Agreement typically permit a single net payment in the event of a default (close-out netting) or similar event, including the bankruptcy or insolvency of the counterparty.

For derivatives traded under an ISDA Master Agreement, the collateral requirements are typically calculated by netting the mark-to-market amount for each transaction under such agreement and comparing that amount to the value of any collateral currently pledged by the Funds and the counterparty. For financial reporting purposes, cash collateral that has been pledged to cover obligations of the Funds and cash collateral received from the counterparty, if any, are reported separately on the Statements of Assets and Liabilities as segregated cash with broker/receivable for variation margin, or payable for swap settlement/variation margin. Cash and/or securities pledged or received as collateral by the Funds in connection with an OTC derivative subject to an ISDA Master Agreement generally may not be invested, sold or rehypothecated by the counterparty or the Funds, as applicable, absent an event of default under such agreement, in which case such collateral generally may be applied towards obligations due to and payable by such counterparty or the Funds, as applicable. Generally, the amount of collateral due from or to a counterparty must exceed a minimum transfer amount threshold (e.g., $300,000) before a transfer is required to be made. To the extent amounts due to the Funds from their counterparties are not fully collateralized, contractually or otherwise, the Funds bear the risk of loss from counterparty nonperformance. The Funds attempt to mitigate counterparty risk by only entering into agreements with counterparties that they believe to be of good standing and by monitoring the financial stability of those counterparties.

For financial reporting purposes, the Funds do not offset derivative assets and derivative liabilities that are subject to netting arrangements in the Statements of Assets and Liabilities.

The following tables present derivative financial instruments and secured financing transactions that are subject to enforceable netting arrangements:

Note 4 – Fair Value Measurement

In accordance with U.S. GAAP, fair value is defined as the price that the Funds would receive to sell an investment or pay to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction with an independent buyer in the principal market, or in the absence of a principal market, the most advantageous market for the investment or liability. U.S. GAAP establishes a three-tier fair value hierarchy based on the types of inputs used to value assets and liabilities and requires corresponding disclosure. The hierarchy and the corresponding inputs are summarized below:

Level 1 — quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities.

Level 2 — significant other observable inputs (for example quoted prices for securities that are similar based on characteristics such as interest rates, prepayment speeds, credit risk, etc.).

Level 3 — significant unobservable inputs based on the best information available under the circumstances, to the extent observable inputs are not available, which may include assumptions.

The types of inputs available depend on a variety of factors, such as the type of security and the characteristics of the markets in which it trades, if any. Fair valuation determinations that rely on fewer or no observable inputs require greater judgment. Accordingly, fair value determinations for Level 3 securities require the greatest amount of judgment.

Independent pricing services are used to value a majority of the Funds' investments. When values are not available from a pricing service, they will be determined using a variety of sources and techniques, including: market prices; broker quotes; and models which derive prices based on inputs such as prices of securities with comparable maturities and characteristics or based on inputs such as anticipated cash flows or collateral, spread over U.S. Treasury securities, and other information and analysis. A significant portion of the Funds' assets and liabilities are categorized as Level 2, as indicated in this report.

Quotes from broker-dealers, adjusted for fluctuations in criteria such as credit spreads and interest rates, may also be used to value the Funds' assets and liabilities, i.e. prices provided by a broker-dealer or other market participant who has not committed to trade at that price. Although quotes are typically received from established market participants, the Funds may not have the transparency to view the underlying inputs which support the market quotations. Significant changes in a quote would generally result in significant changes in the fair value of the security.

Certain fixed income securities are valued by obtaining a monthly quote from a broker-dealer, adjusted for fluctuations in criteria such as credit spreads and interest rates. Certain loans and other securities are valued using a single daily broker quote or a price from a third party vendor based on a single daily or monthly broker quote.

The inputs or methodologies used for valuing securities are not necessarily an indication of the risk associated with investing in those securities. The suitability of the techniques and sources employed to determine fair valuation are regularly monitored and subject to change.

Note 5 – Investment Advisory Agreement and Other Agreements

Under the terms of an investment advisory contract, the Funds pay GI investment advisory fees calculated at the annualized rates below, based on the average daily net assets of the Funds:

¹ The Series' management fee is subject to a 0.05% reduction on assets over $5 billion.

GI pays operating expenses on behalf of the Trust, such as audit and accounting related services, legal services, custody, printing and mailing, among others, on a pass-through basis. Such expenses are allocated to various Funds within the complex based on relative net assets.

The Board has adopted a Distribution and Shareholder Services Plan pursuant to Rule 12b-1 under the 1940 Act that allows those Funds to pay distribution and shareholder services fees to GFD. The Funds will pay distribution and shareholder services fees to GFD at an annual rate not to exceed 0.25% of average daily net assets. GFD may, in turn, pay all or a portion of the proceeds from the distribution and shareholder services fees to insurance companies or their affiliates and qualified plan administrators ("intermediaries") for services they provide on behalf of the Funds to current and prospective variable contract owners and qualified plan participants that invest in the Funds through the intermediaries.

Contractual expense limitation agreements for the following Funds provide that the total expenses be limited to a percentage of average net assets for the Funds, exclusive of brokerage costs, dividends or interest on securities sold short, expenses of other investment companies in which a Fund invests, interest, taxes, litigation, indemnification and extraordinary expenses. Fee waivers will be calculated at the investing Fund level without regard to any expense cap in effect for the investing Fund. Fees waived under this arrangement are not subject to reimbursement to GI. For the year ended December 31, 2020, the following Funds waived fees related to investments in affiliated funds:

Fund	Amount Waived
Series A (StylePlus—Large Core Series)	$ 83,407
Series E (Total Return Bond Series)	41,936

Certain trustees and officers of the Trust are also officers of GI and/or GFD. The Trust does not compensate its officers or trustees who are officers, directors and/or employees of GI or GFD.

MUFG Investor Services (US), LLC (“MUIS”) acts as the Funds’ administrator, transfer agent and accounting agent. As administrator, transfer agent and accounting agent, MUIS maintains the books and records of the Funds’ securities and cash. The Bank of New York Mellon Corp. (“BNY”) acts as the Funds’ custodian. As custodian, BNY is responsible for the custody of the Funds’ assets. For providing the aforementioned administrative and accounting services, MUIS is entitled to receive a monthly fee equal to a percentage of the Funds’ average daily net assets and out of pocket expenses. For providing the aforementioned transfer agent and custodian services, MUIS and BNY are entitled to receive a monthly fee based on the number of transactions during the month and the number of accounts under management, subject to certain minimum monthly fees, and out of pocket expenses.

Note 6 – Federal Income Tax Information

The Funds intend to comply with the provisions of Subchapter M of the Internal Revenue Code applicable to regulated investment companies and will distribute substantially all taxable net investment income and capital gains sufficient to relieve the Funds from all, or substantially all, federal income, excise and state income taxes. Therefore, no provision for federal or state income tax or federal excise tax is required.

Tax positions taken or expected to be taken in the course of preparing the Funds’ tax returns are evaluated to determine whether the tax positions are “more-likely-than-not” of being sustained by the applicable tax authority. Tax positions not deemed to meet the more-likely-than-not threshold would be recorded as a tax benefit or expense in the current year. Management has analyzed the Funds’ tax positions taken, or to be taken, on U.S. federal income tax returns for all open tax years, and has concluded that no provision for income tax is required in the Funds’ financial statements. The Funds’ U.S. federal income tax returns are subject to examination by the Internal Revenue Service (“IRS”) for a period of three years after they are filed.

Fund	Ordinary Income	Long-Term Capital Gain	Total Distributions

As of December 31, 2020, capital loss carryforwards for the Funds were as follows:

Fund	Unlimited		Total Capital Loss Carryforward

Net investment income and net realized gains (losses) may differ for financial statement and tax purposes because of temporary or permanent book/tax differences. These differences are primarily due to investments in real estate investment trusts, foreign currency gains and losses, losses deferred due to wash sales, distributions in connection with redemption of fund shares, return of capital distributions received, income accruals on certain investments, income recharacterization from certain investments, investments in swaps, and the “mark-to-market,” recharacterization, or disposition of certain Passive Foreign Investment Companies (PFICs). Additional differences may result from the tax treatment of bond premium/discount amortization, losses deferred due to straddles, and the “mark-to-market” of certain derivatives. To the extent these differences are permanent and would require a reclassification between Paid in Capital and Total Distributable Earnings (Loss), such reclassifications are made in the period that the differences arise. These reclassifications have no effect on net assets or NAV per share.

The following adjustments were made on the Statements of Assets and Liabilities as of December 31, 2020 for permanent book/tax differences:

Fund	Paid In Capital	Total Distributable Earnings/(Loss)

¹ Security has no stated coupon. However, it is expected to receive residual cash flow payments on defined deal dates.

² Variable rate security. Rate indicated is the rate effective at December 31, 2020. In some instances, the effective rate is limited by a minimum rate floor or a maximum rate cap established by the issuer. The settlement status of a position may also impact the effective rate indicated. In some cases, a position may be unsettled at period end and may not have a stated effective rate. In instances where multiple underlying reference rates and spread amounts are shown, the effective rate is based on a weighted average.

³ Security is in default of interest and/or principal obligations.

Note 10 – Line of Credit

The Trust, along with other affiliated trusts, secured a 364-day committed, $1,205,000,000 line of credit from Citibank, N.A., which was in place through October 4, 2019, at which time the line of credit was renewed with an increased commitment amount of $1,230,000,000. A Fund may draw (borrow) from the line of credit, with limits subject to applicable regulatory requirements around leverage, as a temporary measure for emergency purposes, to facilitate redemption requests, or for other short-term liquidity purposes consistent with the Fund's investment objective and program. For example, it may be advantageous for the Fund to borrow money rather than sell existing portfolio positions to meet redemption requests. Fees related to borrowings, if any, vary under this arrangement between the greater of Citibank's "base rate", LIBOR plus 1%, or the federal funds rate plus 1/2 of 1%.

The commitment fee that may be paid by the Funds is at an annualized rate of 0.15% of the average daily amount of their allocated unused commitment amount. The commitment fee amount is allocated to the individual Funds based on the respective net assets of each participating Fund and is referenced in the Statement of Operations under "Line of credit fees". The Funds did not have any borrowings under this agreement as of and for the year ended December 31, 2020.

In addition, Series E (Total Return Bond Series) and Series F (Floating Rate Strategies Series) (the "Funds") entered into an additional unlimited credit facility agreement with BNP Paribas Prime Brokerage, Inc. (the "counterparty") whereby the counterparty has agreed to provide secured financing to the Funds and the Funds will provide pledged collateral to the counterparty. Fees related to borrowings, if any, equate to 1 month LIBOR plus 0.90%. The Funds did not have any borrowings under this agreement at or during the year ended December 31, 2020.

Note 11 – Other Liabilities

Series A (StylePlus—Large Core Series) and Series V (SMid Cap Value Series) (the "Funds") each wrote put option contracts through Lehman Brothers, Inc. ("Lehman") that were exercised prior to the option contracts expiration and prior to the bankruptcy filing by Lehman, during September 2008. However, these transactions have not settled and the securities have not been delivered to the Funds as of December 31, 2020.

The Funds have recorded a liability on their respective books equal to the difference between the strike price on the put options and the market prices of the underlying security on the exercise date. The amount of liability recorded by the Funds prior to December 31, 2020 was $18,615 for Series A (StylePlus—Large Core Series) and $205,716 for Series V (SMid Cap Value Series) and was included in payable for miscellaneous in the Statements of Assets and Liabilities. On May 15, 2020, the Funds revised the amounts of their liability to $0 after it was determined the Funds have no future obligations related to this matter.

Note 12 – Reverse Repurchase Agreements

Each of the Funds may enter into reverse repurchase agreements. Under a reverse repurchase agreement, a Fund sells securities and agrees to repurchase them at a particular price at a future date. In the event the buyer of securities under a reverse repurchase agreement files for bankruptcy or becomes insolvent, such buyer or its trustee or receiver may receive an extension of time to determine whether to enforce the Fund's obligation to repurchase the securities, and the Fund's use of the proceeds of the reverse repurchase agreement may effectively be restricted pending such decision.

For the year ended December 31, 2020, the following Funds entered into reverse repurchase agreements:

Fund	Number of Days Outstanding	Balance at December 31, 2020	Average Balance Outstanding	Average Interest Rate
Series E (Total Return Bond Series)	153	$ —*	$ 1,759,735	0.12%
Series P (High Yield Series)	366	988,490	1,585,208	1.12%

* As of December 31, 2020, Series E (Total Return Bond Series) did not have any open reverse repurchase agreements.

The following table presents reverse repurchase agreements that are subject to netting arrangements and offset in the Statements of Assets of Liabilities in conformity with U.S. GAAP:

Note 13 – Legal Proceedings

Tribune Company

SBL Fund has been named as a defendant and a putative member of the proposed defendant class of shareholders in the case entitled Kirschner v. FitzSimons, No. 12-2652 (S.D.N.Y.) (formerly Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors of Tribune Co. v. FitzSimons, Adv. Pro. No. 10-54010 (Bankr. D. Del.)) (the “FitzSimons action”), as a result of ownership by certain series of the SBL Fund of shares in the Tribune Company (“Tribune”) in 2007, when Tribune effected a leveraged buyout transaction (“LBO”) by which Tribune converted to a privately-held company. In his complaint, the plaintiff has alleged that, in connection with the LBO, Tribune insiders and shareholders were overpaid for their Tribune stock using financing that the insiders knew would, and ultimately did, leave Tribune insolvent. The plaintiff has asserted claims against certain insiders, major shareholders, professional advisers, and others involved in the LBO. The plaintiff is also attempting to obtain from former Tribune shareholders, including the SBL Fund, the proceeds they received in connection with the LBO.

In June 2011, a group of Tribune creditors filed multiple actions against former Tribune shareholders involving state law constructive fraudulent conveyance claims arising out of the 2007 LBO (the “SLCFC actions”). SBL Fund has been named as a defendant in two of the SLCFC actions: Deutsche Bank Trust Co. Americas v. Ohlson Enter., No. 12-0064 (S.D.N.Y.) and Deutsche Bank Trust Co. Americas v. Cantor Fitzgerald & Co., No. 11-4900 (S.D.N.Y.). In those actions, the creditors seek to recover from Tribune’s former shareholders the proceeds received in connection with the 2007 LBO.

The FitzSimons action and the SLCFC actions have been consolidated with the majority of the other Tribune LBO-related lawsuits in a multidistrict litigation proceeding captioned In re Tribune Company Fraudulent Conveyance Litig., No. 11-md-2296 (S.D.N.Y.) (the “MDL Proceeding”).

On September 23, 2013, the District Court granted the defendants’ omnibus motion to dismiss the SLCFC actions, on the basis that the creditors lacked standing. On September 30, 2013, the creditors filed a notice of appeal of the September 23 order. On October 28, 2013, the defendants filed a joint notice of cross-appeal of that same order. On March 29, 2016, the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit issued its opinion on the appeal of the SLCFC actions. The appeals court affirmed the district court’s dismissal of those lawsuits, but on different grounds than the district court. The appeals court held that while the plaintiffs have standing under the U.S. Bankruptcy Code, their claims were preempted by Section 546(e) of the Bankruptcy Code—the statutory safe harbor for settlement payments. On April 12, 2016, the Plaintiffs in the SLCFC actions filed a petition seeking rehearing en banc before the appeals court. On July 22, 2016, the appeals court denied the petition. On September 9, 2016, the plaintiffs filed a petition for writ of certiorari in the U.S. Supreme Court challenging the Second Circuit’s decision that the safe harbor of Section 546(e) applied to their claims. The shareholder defendants, including the Funds, filed a joint brief in opposition to the petition for certiorari on October 24, 2016. On April 3, 2018, Justice Kennedy and Justice Thomas issued a “Statement” related to the petition for certiorari suggesting that the Second Circuit and/or District Court may want to take steps to reexamine the application of the Section 546(e) safe harbor to the previously dismissed state law constructive fraudulent transfer claims based on the Supreme Court’s decision in Merit Management Group LP v. FTI Consulting, Inc. On April 10, 2018, plaintiffs filed in the Second Circuit a motion for that court to recall its mandate, vacate its prior decision, and remand to the district court for further proceedings consistent with Merit Management. On April 20, 2018, the shareholder defendants filed a response to plaintiffs’ motion to recall the mandate. On May 15, 2018, the Second Circuit issued an order recalling the mandate “in anticipation of further panel review.” On December 19, 2019, the Second Circuit issued an amended opinion that again affirmed the district court’s ruling on the basis that plaintiffs’ claims were preempted by Section 546(e) of the Bankruptcy Code. Plaintiffs filed a motion for rehearing and rehearing en banc on January 2, 2020. The Second Circuit denied the petition on February 6, 2020. On July 6, 2020, plaintiffs filed a new petition for a writ of certiorari in the U.S. Supreme Court. In that petition, plaintiffs stated that “[t]o make it more likely that there will be a quorum for this petition,” they have “abandon[ed] the case and let the judgment below stand” with respect to certain defendants. That list did not include SBL Fund. Defendants filed an opposition to the petition for certiorari on August 26, 2020, and plaintiffs filed a reply in support of the petition for certiorari on September 8, 2020.

On May 23, 2014, the defendants filed motions to dismiss the FitzSimons action, including a global motion to dismiss Count I, which is the claim brought against former Tribune shareholders for intentional fraudulent conveyance under U.S. federal law. On January 6, 2017, the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York granted the shareholder defendants’ motion to dismiss the intentional fraudulent conveyance claim in the FitzSimons action. The Court concluded that the plaintiff had failed to allege that Tribune entered the LBO with actual intent to hinder, delay, or defraud its creditors, and therefore the complaint failed to state a claim. In dismissing the intentional fraudulent conveyance claim, the Court denied the plaintiff’s request to amend the complaint. The plaintiff requested that the Court direct entry of a final judgment in order to make the order immediately appealable. On February 23, 2017, the Court issued an order stating that it intended to permit an interlocutory appeal of the dismissal order, but would wait to do so until it has resolved outstanding motions to dismiss filed by other defendants.

On July 18, 2017, the plaintiff submitted a letter to the District Court seeking leave to amend its complaint to add a constructive fraudulent transfer claim. The shareholder defendants opposed that request. On August 24, 2017, the Court denied the plaintiff’s request without prejudice to renewal of the request in the event of an intervening change in the law. On March 8, 2018, the plaintiff renewed his request for leave to file a motion to amend the complaint to assert a constructive fraudulent transfer claim based on the Supreme Court’s ruling in Merit Management Group LP v. FTI Consulting, Inc. The shareholder defendants opposed that request. On June 18, 2018 the District Court ordered that the request would be stayed pending further action by the Second Circuit in the SLCFC actions.

On December 18, 2018, plaintiff filed a letter with the District Court requesting that the stay be dissolved in order to permit briefing on the motion to amend the complaint and indicating plaintiff’s intention to file another motion to amend the complaint to reinstate claims for intentional fraudulent transfer. The shareholder defendants opposed that request. On January 14, 2019, the court held a case management conference, during which the court stated that it would not lift the stay prior to further action from the Second Circuit in the SLCFC actions. The court further stated that it would allow the plaintiff to file a motion to amend to try to reinstate its intentional fraudulent transfer claim. On January 23, 2019, the court ordered the parties still facing pending claims to participate in a mediation, to commence on January 28, 2019. The mediation did not result in a settlement of the claims against the shareholder defendants.

On April 4, 2019, plaintiff filed a motion to amend the Fifth Amended Complaint to assert a federal constructive fraudulent transfer claim against certain shareholder defendants. On April 10, 2019, the shareholder defendants filed a brief in opposition to plaintiff's motion to amend. On April 12, 2019, the plaintiff filed a reply brief. On April 23, 2019, the court denied the plaintiff's motion to amend. On June 13, 2019, the court entered judgment pursuant to Rule 54(b). On July 12, 2019, the Plaintiff filed a notice of appeal with respect to the dismissal of his claims and the District Court's denial of his motion for leave to amend. Plaintiff filed an appellate brief on January 7, 2020. The shareholder defendants' brief was filed on April 27, 2020. Plaintiff filed a reply brief on May 18, 2020. The Court held oral argument on August 24, 2020.

None of these lawsuits alleges any wrongdoing on the part of Guggenheim Variable Funds Trust f/k/a SBL Fund. The following series of Guggenheim Variable Funds Trust held shares of Tribune and tendered these shares as part of Tribune's LBO: Series A (StylePlus—Large Core Series) f/k/a Series H (Enhanced Index Series), Series N (Managed Asset Allocation Series) and Series O (All Cap Value Series) (the "Funds"). The value of the proceeds received by the foregoing Funds was $158,950, $51,000 and $3,774,000, respectively. At this stage of the proceedings, Guggenheim Variable Funds Trust is not able to make a reliable predication as to the outcome of these lawsuits or the effect, if any, on a Fund's net asset value.

Note 14 – COVID-19 and Recent Developments

The global ongoing crisis caused by the outbreak of COVID-19 is causing materially reduced consumer demand and economic output, disrupting supply chains, resulting in market closures, travel restrictions and quarantines, and adversely impacting local and global economies. Investors should be aware that in light of the current uncertainty, volatility and distress in economies, financial markets, and labor and health conditions all over the world, the Funds' investments and a shareholder's investment in the Funds are subject to sudden and substantial losses, increased volatility and other adverse events. Firms through which investors invest with the Funds, the Funds, their service providers, the markets in which they invest and market intermediaries are also impacted by quarantines and similar measures intended to contain the ongoing pandemic, which can obstruct their functioning and subject them to heightened operational risks.

Note 15 – Subsequent Events

The Funds evaluated subsequent events through the date the financial statements were available for issue and determined there were no material events that would require adjustment to or disclosure in the Funds' financial statements.

To the Shareholders and the Board of Trustees of Guggenheim Variable Funds Trust

Opinion on the Financial Statements

We have audited the accompanying statements of assets and liabilities of Guggenheim Variable Funds Trust (the “Trust”) (comprising Series A (Style Plus—Large Core Series), Series B (Large Cap Value Series), Series D (World Equity Income Series), Series E (Total Return Bond Series), Series F (Floating Rate Strategies Series), Series J (Style Plus—Mid Growth Series), Series N (Managed Asset Allocation Series), Series O (All Cap Value Series), Series P (High Yield Series), Series Q (Small Cap Value Series), Series V (SMid Cap Value Series), Series X (Style Plus—Small Growth Series), Series Y (Style Plus—Large Growth Series) and Series Z (Alpha Opportunity Series) (collectively referred to as the “Funds”)), including the schedules of investments, as of December 31, 2020, and the related statements of operations for the year then ended, the statements of changes in net assets for each of the two years in the period then ended, the financial highlights for each of the five years in the period then ended and the related notes (collectively referred to as the “financial statements”). In our opinion, the financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of each of the Funds comprising Guggenheim Variable Funds Trust at December 31, 2020, the results of their operations for the year then ended, the changes in their net assets for each of the two years in the period then ended and their financial highlights for each of the five years in the period then ended, in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles.

Basis for Opinion

These financial statements are the responsibility of the Trust's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on each of the Funds' financial statements based on our audits. We are a public accounting firm registered with the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States) (“PCAOB”) and are required to be independent with respect to the Trust in accordance with the U.S. federal securities laws and the applicable rules and regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission and the PCAOB.

We conducted our audits in accordance with the standards of the PCAOB. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement, whether due to error or fraud. The Trust is not required to have, nor were we engaged to perform, an audit of the Trust's internal control over financial reporting. As part of our audits, we are required to obtain an understanding of internal control over financial reporting but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Trust's internal control over financial reporting. Accordingly, we express no such opinion.

Our audits included performing procedures to assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to error or fraud, and performing procedures that respond to those risks. Such procedures included examining, on a test basis, evidence regarding the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. Our procedures included confirmation of securities owned as of December 31, 2020, by correspondence with the custodian, transfer agent, paying agents and brokers or by other appropriate auditing procedures where replies from paying agents or brokers were not received. Our audits also included evaluating the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In compliance with SEC Rule 22e-4 under the U.S. Investment Company Act of 1940 (the “Liquidity Rule”), the Guggenheim Variable Funds Trust (the “Trust”) has adopted and implemented a written liquidity risk management program (the “Program”) for each series of the Trust (each, a “Fund” and, collectively, the “Funds”). The Trust’s Board of Trustees (the “Board”) previously approved the designation of a Program administrator (the “Administrator”).

The Liquidity Rule requires that the Program be reasonably designed to assess and manage each Fund’s liquidity risk. A Fund’s “liquidity risk” is the risk that the Fund could not meet requests to redeem shares issued by the Fund without significant dilution of the remaining investors’ interests in the Fund. The Program includes a number of elements that support the assessment, management and review of liquidity risk. In accordance with the Program, each Fund’s liquidity risk is assessed no less frequently than annually taking into consideration a variety of factors, including, as applicable, the Fund’s investment strategy and liquidity of portfolio investments, cash flow projections, and holdings of cash and cash equivalents, as well as borrowing arrangements and other funding sources. Certain factors are considered under both normal and reasonably foreseeable stressed conditions. There is no guarantee that the Program will achieve its objective under all circumstances.

Under the Program, each Fund portfolio investment is classified into one of four liquidity categories based on a determination of the number of days it is reasonably expected to take to convert the investment to cash, or sell or dispose of the investment, in current market conditions without significantly changing the investment’s market value. The Program is reasonably designed to meet Liquidity Rule requirements relating to “highly liquid investment minimums” (i.e., the minimum amount of Fund net assets to be invested in highly liquid investments that are assets) and to monitor compliance with the Liquidity Rule’s limitations on a Fund’s investments in illiquid investments. Under the Liquidity Rule, a Fund is prohibited from acquiring any illiquid investment if, immediately after the acquisition, the Fund would have invested more than 15% of its net assets in illiquid investments that are assets.

During the period covered by this shareholder report, the Board received a written report (the “Report”) prepared by the Administrator addressing the Program’s operation and assessing the adequacy and effectiveness of its implementation for the period from December 1, 2018, through March 31, 2020. The Report concluded that the Program operated effectively, the Program had been and continued to be reasonably designed to assess and manage each Fund’s liquidity risk and the Program has been adequately and effectively implemented to monitor and respond to the Funds’ liquidity developments, as applicable.

Please refer to your Fund’s prospectus for more information regarding the Fund’s exposure to liquidity risk and other risks to which an investment in the Fund may be subject.
